

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

POLITICS AND PACHYDERMS

NEWCOMERS to the Legislature who may have been unprepared for the exchanges that are hurled across the floor of the House are learning one of the first lessons of political life—that you must be thick-skinned, and that if you happen to have a thin one, to start with you had better learn quickly to grow one as thick as the hide of a rhinoceros.

But while criticism has been rampant, the current session has been remarkably free from anything approaching the nature of personal abuse or personal attack. And it must be remembered that criticism is the recognized and legitimate weapon of Opposition.

MEALY-MOUTHED?

During the 12 years that I have sat in the House, I have become more and more conscious of the dignity and restraint exercised by all parties, as compared to the early days when Members slept or sat with their feet upon their desks and, in the heat of debate, hurled invectives that set the Speaker's gavel pounding.

Over the years, as any British student of political history knows, politicians have become positively mealy-mouthed as compared to the early days of the 19th century, for instance, when the arts of abuse and vilification were couched in flowery, but opprobrious, terms.

DISRAELI DEVASTATING

During Benjamin Disraeli's term as a Member, before he became Prime Minister, the rafters of the British House used to ring with the castigations uttered by his great political opponents. They used to trounce each other in terms that would make a modern politician's hair curl.

He once described Gladstone, for instance, as "A sophisticated rhetorician, inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity, and gifted with an egotistical imagination that can at all times command an interminable and inconsistent series of arguments to malign an opponent and glorify himself."

IRISH INVECTIVE

But it was in his exchanges with Daniel O'Connell, the fiery Irish leader, that language became anything but parliamentary, according to today's yardstick. Once, when criticizing Disraeli, O'Connell used this bitter blast:

"He is a liar in action and in words... He is a disgrace to his species... He is the most degraded of his species and kind, and England is degraded in tolerating or having upon the face of her society, a miscreant of his abominable, foul and atrocious nature."

JEW-BAITING TACTICS

Speaking at a trades union rally in Dublin, O'Connell taunted Disraeli with being a Jew. He said, in part: "Disraeli's name shows that he is by descent a Jew. His father became a convert. He is the better for that in this world and I hope he will be better for it in the next... Jews were once the chosen people of God, but there were miscreants among them and it must certainly have been from one of those that he descended. He possesses just the qualities of the impudent thief who died upon the Cross, whose name, I verily believe, must have been Disraeli."

Disraeli's classic retort, made in the House of Commons a few days later, was: "Yes, I am a Jew. And when the ancestors of the right honorable gentleman were brutal savages in an unknown island, mine were priests in the Temple of Solomon."

TRUMAN'S TRUISM

Members who may be feeling a bit bewildered can take heart from the current restraint and decorum. They may even derive a grain of comfort from the advice given by former U.S. President Truman to a recently elected legislator. He told him:

"I know how you must feel. I remember when I first came to Washington. For the first six months you wonder how the h... you got here. And during the next six months you wonder how the h... the rest of 'em got here."

MAMA SHOWS THROUGH LACE PANTS!

Ladies' Trousers Enter High Fashion Via 'Paree'

By H. D. QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—In any family, now, the mama can wear the pants. Trousers for ladies have entered high fashion. Schiaparelli is in the breeches business.

They're knee-pants, mostly. And pretty close to skin-tight. The first American showing of these Paris creations was held here Wednesday. Schiaparelli calls them "tiny tiny trousers."

If you'd like a curbstone opinion from a male, this reporter felt they were mighty purty but rather risky. Trouble is, the wearer needs tiny tiny hips. Otherwise... oh, well. Pictures of the new duds will not be released until Feb. 27. In the absence of photographs, we'll try to describe for you the three pairs of pants shown here—Schiaparelli originals, flown from Paris, by the way—so you can envision what mama will look like this spring.

A United Press photographer, the only other male at the showing, reacted instantly when the first model hove into view.

"Tsk, tsk," he commented. The model was a brunette—tall, slim, poodled, and, on the whole, lovely, lovely. The outfit was black rayon shantung with the tight trousers just covering the knee. The pants were what Schiaparelli's word-boy calls "frivolously horned" down the front.

The "horns" were huge, pointed folds of buckram standing out like a dinosaur's backbone down the front of each leg and giving the illusion that the model might have got the pants on hind-side-before. It seemed as if she should be moving backward.

These pants are "for parties at home." With them, the model carried a gigantic bag, fringed so that it looked like the shade of a bridge lamp out of the 1920's.

The second outfit was said to have been the hit of the Paris couture openings. The pants are white lace. The lace is acetate, but feminine, feminine. The model's torso was covered by a white leopard, with a plummeting neckline. Below the torso, only the model showed through the white lace pants.

Drew Sees 30,000,000 Population By 1965

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (UP)—Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew predicted Wednesday night that Canada will emerge as a major world power in a few years and might have a population of 30,000,000 by 1965.

"This may well be the dawn of the period of the greatest opportunity in Canada," he told the annual dinner meeting of the St. Catharines and district Chamber of Commerce.

B.C. Couple Praised Reds

Letter Threatens to Become 'Cause Celebre' In U.S. Congressional Education Probe

PORT CLEMENTS, B.C. (CP)—A few years ago Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Mayer felt the Russians deserved a pat on the back for, if nothing else, the zest with which they undertook reconstruction in their war-ravaged land.

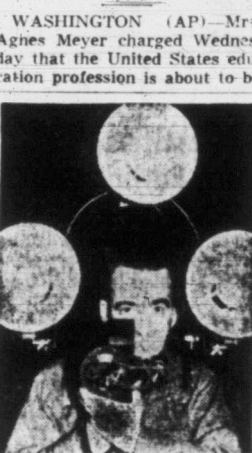

The Mayers, living in retirement in this little community on Graham Island in the Queen Charlottes, had plenty of time on their hands. So, they said, when they weren't reading magazines from all over the world, they sent letters to the various editors.

One of the letters went to New York, to the magazine Soviet Russia Today, in which they expressed a "certain amount of admiration" regarding Russian reconstruction, "just as we would for any country."

This letter, Mrs. Mayer told The Canadian Press Wednesday, apparently was the one which led a woman with a similar name, Mrs. Agnes Meyer of Washington, to charge that the United States education profession is about to be attacked by "a man who is conscienceless enough to use a deliberate lie."

Mrs. Mayer, wife of a retired rancher, said: "We certainly have nothing to do with Russia. We certainly didn't send that letter to Moscow."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Agnes Meyer charged Wednesday that the United States education profession is about to be

NO APOLOGY WAS NEEDED

DETROIT (UP)—Two patrolmen had no time to spare when their police car collided with another auto in suburban Harper Woods Wednesday.

Jumping from their car the officers shouted to the other driver: "We're answering a call on a bank holdup. Stay right here and we'll come back later to get a report on the accident."

"That's all right with me," said the other driver, James J. Gerzen, 21. But as soon as police were out of sight, Gerzen headed off in the other direction, carrying a paper bag containing the $2190 he had just robbed from a Harper Woods bank.

Police found him an hour later hiding in a pigeon loft two blocks from the scene of the accident.

Arctic Indian Village Said Without Food

FORT GOOD HOPE, N.W.T. (UP)—The RCMP sent out a patrol from this trading post 15 miles from the Arctic Circle today to investigate a report that an Indian village was in danger of extermination through starvation.

The unconfirmed report said a band of Hare Indians living near Coleville Lake, 100 miles northeast of here and deep in the snow-locked northland, had been without food for four days after 30 sled dogs were killed by rabies disease.

The RCMP said it had been reported that the huskies died after being attacked by rabies-maddened wolves. The loss would be a crippling blow to the community of hardy and independent Indians. The band relied on the dogs to drag sleds on patrols of isolated trap lines and for caribou-hunting trips, which provide the Indians with most of their food.

Officials of the Indian welfare service said if it was found that the 90 Indians were in hardship, fresh supplies would be rushed to the community.

Courtenay to Attempt Waterfront Clean-Up

COURTENAY—Aldermen Sid Williams and Lester Dobell have been named by the city council to discuss with boat owners plans to improve sanitary conditions in the Courtenay River slough.

Action was taken following a complaint by H. G. E. Reynolds, auto court operator, and a subsequent report by sanitary inspector E. B. Winstanley who was ordered to inspect the backwater where some 40 fish ing boats are moored.

It was "unsightly, unsanitary and an eyesore to the district," he reported.

NO SURE GUIDE FOR THE DUKE

Philip's Role in Coronation Likely To Be Inconspicuous

BY ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—The Queen and the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, will have to decide soon what role is to be played at the Coronation June 2 by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

There is no sure guide, in precedent or law, to what the consort of a reigning queen should do.

The archbishop has the authority to decide, for he will be in supreme charge of the ceremony at Westminster Abbey. But he will listen to the suggestions of the Queen and it seems probable the Duke himself will be consulted.

It generally is expected the Duke will take an important part in the ceremony. It is likely he will have his own place in the procession inside the abbey, and that he may be the first of all her subjects to do homage.

For a Coronation, a king with a wife is simple. Each gets a crown and the queen consort has an established place in the proceedings.

Queen regents, with husbands, have been rare. Seeking a precedent, authorities had to go back to 1702, when Queen Anne was crowned. But the precedent was not very helpful.

Queen Anne was married to Prince George of Denmark long before she came to the throne. "Unfortunately for future ages," wrote a historian, "Prince George of Denmark made so little impression on his contemporaries that no one seems to have remembered to record exactly what he did or where he sat during the actual service."

But it is known that the Danish prince had a place in Anne's procession and that he was the first, before the archbishops and bishops, to do homage to the Queen.

It is expected that this scrap of precedent will be followed. But the Duke of Edinburgh, in a short time, has gained more esteem than the Danish prince did in many years. So the archbishop may decide to give the Duke a more important role.

However, the Duke, while an important figure, must be in a properly balanced setting which suggests that, as consort of a reigning queen, he exercises none of her powers. As a husband he is head of a royal household, but the Queen is Queen.

Vice Trial Brands Actor

NEW YORK (UP)—The vice trial of Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke took on the aspects of a Balkan spy drama today and easily qualified as the most unusual morals case in the last half-century.

The latest note in an already bizarre trial was the appearance of seven or eight plainclothes detectives in the corridors outside the locked courtroom where the 23-year-old actor was on trial for compulsory prostitution and living off the earnings of an alleged stable of café society call girls.

Another new development was the top secret manner in which the state's star witnesses were being ushered to the witness chair. During the first week of the trial, they used the "front door." In the last few days, however, they were being whisked into court via the judge's private elevator and Wednesday's major witness, one-time movie "bit player" Richard Short, was never even glimpsed by the press.

The detectives were checking on reporters covering the case from the outside. They kept the closest possible tabs on everyone leaving the courtroom, particularly those who stopped to talk to any of the newsmen or photographers.

Judge Francis L. Valente has barred press and public from the trial in "the interests of decency and good public morals."

BAD SITUATION

Defense attorney Samuel Segal revealed Wednesday he had protested to Judge Valente that "garbled stories leaking from this courtroom are doing so much damage to my client I feel it my duty to set the press straight on what actually is happening." He said Valente conceded it was a "bad situation that can't be helped" and virtually approved Segal's program for setting the record straight by asking the attorney only to "please use discretion."

Segal then stepped from the courtroom after Wednesday's session to brand Short "a liar and a man of easy virtue who admitted he lived off women after he got out of jail in California, where he had been sentenced for a 'mugging-type' robbery."

Short also testified that Jelke boasted Diane "Golden Girl" Harris was the best of a dozen call girls he sent to nightlife millionaires and promised Short's wife, Pat Thompson, he would send her plenty of $50-a-night customers.

Both girls were scheduled to testify against Jelke, together with Nancy Hawkins, Eleanor Ames, Carole Sutton and Joan Douglas. Erica Steel, a California redhead who had previously been convicted of prostitution, was expected to lead the parade of call girls to the stand today.

NEW WITNESS—TV actress Barbara Harmon strides down the corridor at Criminal Court, N.Y., to testify in the Minot (Mickey) Jelke vice trial. The 31-year-old blonde refused to talk with reporters who were barred from the courtroom.

Missing Kamloops Couple In Seguin Case May Be Alive

KAMLOOPS (BUP)—The search for a missing Kamloops man and woman switched to a new track today as police, who earlier believed convicted Ontario gunman Henry Seguin may have been connected with their disappearance, reported a new clue in the case.

Police said a travelling salesman told them he had driven a man and woman answering the description of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Labrie from Kamloops to Cache Creek late in November. Labrie and his wife vanished from their Kamloops district auto court in mid-November.

Police refused to identify the salesman, but said they were investigating his story. Seguin had earlier been questioned concerning the Labries' disappearance and police said he had admitted travelling to Kamloops with them.

CORONATION FILMS FREE TO U.S. TV NETWORKS

LONDON (BUP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation's exclusive films of the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth June 2 will be given free to the major television networks in the United States.

A BBC spokesman said Wednesday night that there is no question of any reciprocal deal with the American networks. It has been estimated that the films will bring the networks at least $500,000 in advertising revenues.

Certain stipulations have been made by BBC concerning presentation of the films. They must be preceded and concluded with dignified announcements and there must be no other advertising.

Shipyard-Union Talks Stall Over Pact Date

Boilermakers Claim Operators 'Forcing' Them to Strike Over Expiry Date Issue

Negotiations of seven months between shipyard operators and the Boilermakers' Union were stalled again Wednesday night when the union refused a company request to advance the date of their agreement from July 31 to October 15.

The July 31 expiry date of agreements has been in effect for many years, a union spokesman said today "and we won't allow any tampering with it."

"We were ready to go along with their wage offer of a 7 1/2-cent hourly increase and half-payment of health plan premiums, but they took a dictatorial attitude as far as the anniversary date was concerned," he said.

"It looks like they are trying to force us into a strike," he said. "We see no reason for advancing the date, and think it is a very small point to cause a breakdown in negotiations."

If the union goes on strike, he said, it will ask for its original pay demands as well as the same anniversary date.

A telegram was sent to Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP, informing him of the stalled negotiations, and a general membership meeting will be held next week to consider the problem.

The CNR Capital Revision Act of last year lifted about $28,000,000 in annual interest payment to the government from the CNR's obligations. Its interest payments to the public were expected to be about $22,000,000 for 1952.

CNR Surplus for Operations In 1952; First in 6 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—The financially-reorganized Canadian National Railways had its first surplus in six years in 1952. Finance Minister Abbott indicated in parliament Wednesday.

In a white paper tabled in the Commons in conjunction with today's budget, he said the government-owned line did not incur a deficit last year mainly because of the 1952 federal legislation eliminating a big slice of its annual debt interest.

In 1951, the CNR had an income deficit of $15,031,000, its sixth in a row, despite a then-record gross revenue and an operating surplus of more than $44,000,000. Interest charges on the securities held by the government and the public put it into the red.

The CNR Capital Revision Act of last year lifted about $28,000,000 in annual interest payment to the government from the CNR's obligations. Its interest

Allied Bombers In Heavy Attack

SEOUL (AP)—Allied fighter-bombers today blasted the smoking ruins of a Communist training centre with tons of high explosives in their third devastating strike in two days. The air force said 195 Thunderjets and Shooting Stars unleashed tons of bombs, following up a 380-plane raid Wednesday near Pyongyang, North Korean Red capital.

Today's strike was the fourth in the area in less than a week. The toll of MIGs brought the six-day bag of Russian planes to 16, nine of them in two days.

Budget Balances and Ballots

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S FIRST Social Credit budget may be described as one in favor of the individual at the expense of the general community. By that is meant, that a number of reductions will be made in specific and direct levies paid by taxpayers, but since money for government must come from somewhere, the load is being transferred to general revenue and hidden sources.

The individual will appear to benefit—although he in the end is the only source of government revenue—and since individuals have votes this may be viewed as an "election budget," a favorite and logical device for an administration about to appeal for further support from the people.

That is not to say there are not commendable features about the new program outlined by Mr. Gunderson, on this, his first essay at provincial finance. But it is hard to escape a feeling of "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

Obvious beneficiaries of tax reductions will be car drivers, who will receive a 10 per cent cut in license fees; restaurant diners, whose tax exemption increases from 50 cents to one dollar; and property owners, who under new education financing will generally bear smaller mill rate increases than they otherwise would.

The first two changes together will result in a revenue loss of only about $1,100,000, but the small relief will be widely felt.

The new tax on logging and mining, whereby operators will pay 10 per cent on net profits over $25,000, is part of the announced Social Credit policy to force the natural resources of the province to bear more of the costs of government.

But it is well known that taxes are not in the long run borne by industry; they are largely handed on to the consumer in increased prices. In the face of a weakening export market and a domestic market already complaining at rising costs, the tax could result in hardship to the smaller operators, despite the $25,000 exemption and certain deductions from federal levies.

Mr. Gunderson himself points out, "One of the principal factors in determining the outlook for British Columbia is, of course, the world trade situation. At the close of 1952, the trade situation did not indicate a buoyant future; prices had weakened in pulp, lead and zinc and the traditional markets for poultry, lumber and fish were not available. As the economy of British Columbia is so dependent on the export of these primary products, the short term outlook is uncertain."

The finance minister adds that hydro-electric expansion, natural gas pipelines, abundance of natural resources give the province a bright outlook for the long term future. But these advantages are only "bright" in terms of increased production. If world markets are not eager for our goods, the brightness can quickly become clouded.

It is to this feature of the budget that exception may be taken. There appears to be little cushion against a rapid narrowing of revenue sources which could conceivably occur, due to world conditions: quite beyond British Columbia's control. We are still hewing very close to the line.

As the news columns have noted, it is difficult, because of the altered form of Mr. Gunderson's budget, to compare it exactly with previous documents. However the trend of increases in expenditures that has marked the budgets of many years past appears to have been arrested; estimated spending is down about $853,000 from last year.

British Columbia, however, still spends about twice as much per capita as any other province. That is a fact which cannot be ignored.

One other feature of British Columbia's first Social Credit budget may be noted. There is no mention of Social Credit dividends.

B.C. and Mental Health

FOR YEARS THE SOFTER CLIMATE and other amenities available here have drawn older people to British Columbia's coast. With them, as Dr. William Gibson pointed out to the Rotary Club last week, have come particular problems for this province.

Because of the disproportionately high percentage of elderly people in this part of the nation, the incidence of mental diseases arising from old age is automatically large. According to Dr. Gibson, six cents of every tax dollar in B.C. goes to combat mental illness.

The significance of that statement becomes more apparent when it is realized that half a billion dollars are spent every 10 years from the public treasury in Canada on mental illness and a like amount is probably spent for the same purpose by private individuals.

Dr. Gibson, whose work at the UBC department of neurology renders him competent to discuss the subject, does not approach the question solely from the economic point of view. He is deeply and humanely concerned with the distress and heartbreak arising from mental illness.

At the same time he serves a valuable purpose when he draws to public attention the economic features of the maladies which are proving so costly to this province and this nation. In his talk to the Rotarians, Dr. Gibson co-related the incidence of delinquency, alcoholism and drug addiction to mental health, illustrating the manner in which the country suffers through these social defects.

And from his evidence he adduces a strong case for more intensive research into the whole field of mental health, concentrating not only on custodial and remedial treatment, but on means of preventing disorders of the mind.

Quite apart from any humanitarian considerations, he has raised a strong economic argument for more liberal endowment of those agencies which seek to combat one of the serious maladies threatening our society. In Canada, he says, the amount spent in mental research is infinitesimal. And yet the annual cost to Canadians of mental disease is $100,000,000.

That statement alone tells a story that cannot be ignored.

Bound To Be Read

IN CONTRAST TO THE 16-YEAR delay in the appearance of the official biography of King George V (it was published only last August) the authorized story of the late monarch, George VI, will appear while events of his life are still comparatively fresh in mind.

Queen Elizabeth has commissioned John Wheeler-Bennett to write the new biography, and the author's standing as a modern historian gives assurance that a first-rate volume is in prospect.

Mr. Wheeler-Bennett has done a standard book on the Munich crisis, he has delved deeply into Hitler's often mystifying relationship with the top men of his armed forces, he has edited the captured Nazi archives and is the author of the official British report of the Nuremberg trials.

Look Who's Talking!

IN VANCOUVER, MEMBERS OF the cast of "Tobacco Road" have been found guilty of an "indecent" performance and the movie "La Ronde" has been withheld from public view.

In Washington, D.C., the music of Aaron Copland has been deleted from Inaugural Day ceremonies because a senator "suspected" Mr. Copland's political sympathies. In Los Angeles, the American Legion has succeeded in pressuring Charlie Chaplin's engrossing film, "Limelight," off the screen.

Now we are advised, by United Press, that the city council of La Crosse, Wisconsin, has banned nude mannequins from store windows. Anyone found exhibiting a nude dummy will be fined $25.

The last example of censorship makes every bit as much sense as the others. Dummies, indeed!

LOOSE ENDS

Return to the Axis

BY BRUCE HUTCHISON

OTTAWA: The historic and often the honorable ambition of a French Canadian is to be the leader and folk father of his race. In this century three men have succeeded—

Laurier, Lapointe and St. Laurent. Others, whom it would be uncharitable to name, have tried, failed and broken themselves in their failure. Now Mr. Duplessis is making the same attempt.

This, as the French Canadian members of Parliament interpret it, is the meaning of Mr. Duplessis' present manoeuvres. They are designed to destroy Mr. St. Laurent as the leader of French Canada and put Mr. Duplessis in his place. Not of course in his place as prime minister of Canada, for Mr. Duplessis is too canny a politician to imagine such an impossibility, but in the place of headship and honor among the French Canadian people.

Hence the strategy now under way. Mr. Duplessis, the only Canadian provincial premier who has refused to enter a tax agreement with the federal government, is setting up a royal commission to investigate Quebec's grievances against Ottawa.

This commission, we may be sure, will deliver the report Mr. Duplessis desires. It will confirm his charge that the federal government is seizing, through federal taxes, the money rightfully belonging to Quebec—a familiar charge once enthusiastically proclaimed by Messrs. Hepburn and Drew in Ontario and sometimes by various British Columbia politicians.

In Quebec, of course, this kind of parochial politics has more than a financial appeal. It strikes down into the deepest stuff of the French Canadian nature. It appeals to all Quebec's racial instincts, to its old isolationism, to its sense of grievance, to the feeling of racial domination by the English-speaking majority of Canadians.

Mr. Duplessis, however, is not particularly interested in destroying the Liberal government in Ottawa, though he is a conservative of the extreme right, as conservative indeed as Social Credit. Mr. Duplessis needs for his purposes a government in Ottawa which he can attack, thus appearing in the role of Quebec's saviour. But it happens that the prime minister of Canada also is a French Canadian (though half Irish by descent) and he is the undisputed leader of the French Canadian race. If he could be eliminated, Mr. Duplessis would be the most eminent member of that race.

Mr. Duplessis' first move is obvious enough—an attack on the federal government's greed for Quebec's tax money. But it is not clear how Mr. Duplessis will operate in this year's national election.

HE has always been close to Mr. Drew, as he was to Mr. Hepburn, but it is politically unattractive in Quebec to support Mr. Drew. Mr. Duplessis tried it in 1949, not too openly but by a few indiscreet statements and a public appearance when the two Conservatives were photographed together in the middle of the election campaign.

The result was terribly damaging to Mr. Drew in English-speaking Canada. It did not forget the Quebec election of 1939 when Mr. Duplessis opposed the war and was defeated on that issue by the Liberals under Lapointe, Power and Cardin. And for the losses elsewhere Mr. Drew made no gains whatever in Quebec. The brief Drew-Duplessis axis was a flop. It is not likely to be erected again in public.

NEVERTHELESS, Mr. Duplessis, not Mr. Drew, controls the conservative wing of Quebec politics and Mr. Drew is utterly dependent on him for any chance of winning Quebec seats. How these things will be arranged remains to be seen, but the arrangements themselves will not be difficult. The Conservative candidates in Quebec can be Duplessis men, hand-picked.

Recently Frederic Dorion, president of the Quebec and District Conservative Association, explained these matters pretty candidly when he said: "Two great patriots, Drew and Duplessis" will save the Pact of Confederation. (As reported in the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.)

Mr. Dorion has talked out of turn, no doubt, to the embarrassment of Mr. Drew, but he has stated the real strategy now afoot. The fatal weakness in it is that even Mr. Duplessis can hardly persuade French Canada to reject Mr. St. Laurent, a French Canadian prime minister, of whom the whole race is naturally proud.

Youth and Guilt

(M.B. in The Winnipeg Free Press)

In what has become known as the "Bentley" case, both boys were, before the law, equally guilty. Christopher Craig was too young to receive the death penalty. But did this fact make Derek Bentley any less guilty?

Again, a grave precedent might have been established if the law had been weakened in this case. For would not then any gang that undertook a crime that might result in murder be secured against the death penalty simply by taking along a minor to do the actual shooting?

REFRESHING

I highly endorse the daily publication of "The Power of Positive Thinking" by Norman Vincent Peale as a splendid source of encouragement to the oppressed. It also helps some to renew one's faith in God and his fellow man. I feel the world at large is in need of a message such as this.

It would do well for this book to be in the library of every home. Though I have read this book many times I find pleasure in refreshing on the daily article.

May your readers receive the blessings from continued articles such as this.

FLOOD

Many people in Victoria with an old country background will agree with the feeling I had when I heard of those terrible floods: if we did not have God's assurance that He had set His bow in the sky (rainbow) we might very well have had a general flood.

And now that one reads of the complete calm at the time of the peak-tide let us give the credit and gratitude where they belong—to God, "in Whom we live and move and have our being." I hope that next Sunday we shall have the common courtesy to say thank you for His answer to all the prayers that have gone up from most of the world during these last two weeks.

"SHEOL"

The interpretation of "sheol" as "the grave" is not older than the eighth century Greek translation used in compiling the James version of the English Bible.

"Sheol" to the ancient philosopher, included the world in which we live and the temptations of that world. Man was born in Sheol, in a hell of temptations, and if he succumbed to these temptations until death, he remained in Sheol, which to him was a hole-in-the-ground.

These fortunate people who resisted, or overcame temptation, were rewarded (as we say) by being "born again," by "redemption," or were "saved by grace." They did not stay long in that hole, but were quickly passed by the purgatorial immigration authorities to their destination in the land of perpetual bliss.

Those who succumbed to the evils of Sheol while on earth, by gratifying the senses, were kept on a protracted probation in this quasi-purgatory until they saw "The Light." Maybe some of these ancient people are there yet.

CONDEMNED?

Since several letters have appeared in your readers' forum commending the book by Dr. Peale now being published daily in the Times, perhaps you can find space for a very short one expressing an opposite point of view.

To the thinking person the whole book is deeply expressive of the purely material, and that for only the single individual; leaving completely out the vaster need of the regeneration of the whole of earth society by the introduction of an untried economic system that would eliminate for all the perplexities Dr. Peale seeks to ameliorate for only a few.

And the depth of absurdity is reached when in the closing phrase of Friday's issue he uses the words: "When we die

Bell for the Sleeping Beauty

BY WALTER LIPPMANN From Washington

"OUR conclusion," said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, reporting on his recent visit to Europe, "was that the project for a European Defense Community was not dead but only sleeping."

But we believe that there is a will to proceed. Why, we may ask, has the project been sleeping, and what is it that should be done to encourage the will to proceed?

It can be argued, I venture to think, that the project is sleeping—which means that it has been ratified and made operative—because the necessary negotiations have never been completed. Mr. Dulles said in his speech that "last May the six continental countries... signed a treaty to create a European Defense Community." It was contemplated that the treaties could be promptly ratified, so that the plan could be made operative in six months.

What was contemplated last May was not Mr. Dulles' responsibility, and I make no bold as to say that any public official in Washington, in the State Department, the Pentagon or Congress, who contemplated that the treaty could be made operative in six months was misled by some very bad diplomatic reporting.

For anyone who was in Bonn and in Paris last May, and was willing to listen to what responsible and informed men said off the record, had full notice that the serious and official negotiations necessary to make the European army "operative" had not been carried through, and that they were being postponed until after the American election.

The reason the project has been sleeping is that it was meant to sleep during the American election and until a new administration could take up the unresolved issues.

This was so plain at the time that in writing about the ceremony last May I was merely reporting what virtually everyone involved in it knew and was saying privately. "The main thing that was agreed to at Bonn yesterday was the recognition of an accomplished fact—that Germany and even Western Germany, is again a great power in Europe. All the rest of the laboriously negotiated documents, including the military pact which is expected to be signed today in Paris, are tentative."

"It is a kind of formal agenda for the negotiations among the powers, including Germany, which have yet to be gone into seriously. By common consent in Paris, London and Bonn these serious negotiations dealing with the substance of Germany's relations in Europe will not take place—if they can be postponed we enter into an enlarged capacity," and still more absurd his closing words of "He evidently saw them"—as he quotes the dying words of a man who in his last breaths and evidently in delirium thought himself surrounded by his father, his mother, and brothers and sisters, long since dead.

But Dr. Peale's mentality is such that he can believe (if he does) that this dying man actually saw them. It is well known, now by all of us, that the human animal body swiftly decomposes after death and is soon unrecognizable, and the elemental parts belonging originally to earth remain on earth indefinitely. And it is equally well known that there are no parts of the human animal make-up other than the elemental.

This one fatal departure from the known facts of life on the part of its author condemns the whole book as fanciful, fantastic and dreamlike.

Why we need a West Coast road more today than at any other time during my 43 years' residence here is firstly, as a defense measure, which could be made for the quick movement of ground troops on land in defense of Victoria. Don't wait until it happens—do it now.

If no war comes to our fair land your money won't be thrown away because this territory the road would pass through is the finest scenery on our lovely island. ### STAGGERED

Re your editorial February 11 headed "A Simple, Staggering Fact."

I would like to draw your attention to one staggering fact which you failed to mention in your editorial.

We producers in the B.C. fishing industry have suffered staggering cuts in the past two seasons with no apparent decline in the cost of our product to the consumers either locally or abroad.

My own phase of the fishing industry is an example. In 1952 the price of troll-caught coho salmon (our main source of trollers' income) was half what we received in 1949. (Trollers caught 77.5 per cent coho salmon in 1952.)

Has the consumer received any of this drastic reduction?

Paradoxical to your editorial, Mr. Buchanan, president of the B.C. Packers fishing company (one of the largest in B.C.) stated in a recent meeting called by the B.C. Fishing Vessel Owners' Association, "that price has no bearing on our loss of the United Kingdom market for our canned salmon as it is lack of Canadian dollars in the hands of the United Kingdom."

I am trying to maintain my household on half the income I had prior to 1949. Do you not call that a staggering fact?

No, I think you have to look some other place than the lowering of our Canadian living standards to relieve our economic plight. Cutting my income and others will not change the situation.

16 Skeletons Dug Up Near Suburb of Mexican City

XOCHIMILCO, Mexico (AP)—Police took 16 skeletons from a mysterious burial ground Wednesday and reported some of them showed signs of having been buried with hands and feet tied.

A farmer found the first five skeletons while plowing. They were buried only a few inches deep near the suburb of Mexico City. The first find included three women, a 12-year-old girl and a young man.

During the afternoon police turned up a larger area and found 11 more skeletons of women and children.

All of them lay face upward, their hands behind them and their feet crossed. Police interpreted this as meaning they had been tied when buried.

Coronel Lorenzo Rosas said they had been buried about six years.

The burial area formerly was the bottom of a pond which was drained several years ago.

Grain Strike May Lose Foreign Mart

Alberta Official Fears B.C. Strike Could Cripple Exports; Farmers Seek Settlement

CALGARY, Alta. (BUP)—A. T. Baker, vice-president of the Alberta Wheat Pool, said today the strike by 250 west coast grain handlers might result in the loss of foreign wheat markets.

"Canada has at least 500,000 bushels of wheat to export immediately," Baker said. "And it is of urgent importance not only to the farmers, but to all of Canada that exports be maintained at the highest possible level."

"If the Canadian wheat board cannot fulfill its commitment, other countries will likely take over Canadian markets overseas."

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Members of the striking CIO Grain Workers' Union in Vancouver and New Westminster are studying an offer of mediation made by representatives of 100,000 prairie grain growers whose record crop is stalled in west coast ports by the strike.

The offer came from J. L. Phelps, president of the Inter-Provincial Farm Union Conference and the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union. He said in a telegram Wednesday to Local 333 of the Grain Handlers' Union that his three prairie farmers' unions stood ready to help in any way possible to get

C. E. Touchburn, of Vancouver, in a letter to a Progressive Conservative member, states that a "million-dollar dump" at Dawson Creek, B.C., was used to hide "almost every kind of material" that had been purposely destroyed.

The Cariboo member had charged that the pilfering uncovered at Petawawa military camp was "trifling" compared with what went on along the Alaska Highway during the war.

Mr. Touchburn, who claims he was discharged when he "blasted out" a driver at one of the camps for wasting gasoline also charged in his letter:

Indians Seek Restoration Of Fishing Rights in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Restoration of Indian fishing rights in British Columbia waters was asked Wednesday by the Confederacy of Allied Indian Tribes in B.C.

In a letter to the federal minister of fisheries, Frank Assu, confederacy president, says hundreds of Indian families have suffered, almost to the extent of starvation, because of present fishing conditions. A series of strikes in the fishing industry last season, during which union members refused to handle the catch of Indian fishermen, is blamed for the present situation.

DUNCAN — Rev. F. H. Goughly of Duncan, formerly of Port Alberni, was elected chairman of the Victoria and Vancouver Presbytery of the United Church of Canada at its two-day conference here that ended Wednesday night.

Rev. S. V. H. Redman, Victoria, was named secretary, and I. Land, Victoria, appointed treasurer. More than 80 delegates attended the session.

COURTENAY — Students of Courtenay High School who wished to sell magazines to raise funds for an electric scoreboard at the school gymnasium were told by Mayor Joe Hitchen they must take out $10 business licenses.

They are now considering taking out licenses for a few of their salesmen.

DUNCAN — North Cowichan council, subject to approval of the attorney-general, will pay its police magistrates a straight salary instead of salary plus court costs.

G. A. Tisdall, of the southern section, will receive $55 monthly instead of $45 and costs, and W. H. Bryant, of the northern area, will receive $40 instead of $25.

SPECIAL POWERS RENEWAL URGED

'Apprehended War' Threatens World, Garson Tells House; Better Than War Measures Act

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Garson announced Wednesday that the government is asking extension of the Emergency Powers Act because "an emergency of apprehended war" threatens Canada and the world.

How long the emergency will exist no one knows, the minister said in the Commons. Therefore the government, rather than invoke the wider and more arbitrary powers of the War Measures Act, was asking a renewal of the more limited Emergency Powers Act which sets out what powers may be used in the present situation.

The minister spoke in sponsoring a resolution preceding a bill which will extend the life of the Emergency Powers Act from next May 31 to May 31, 1954. Under the act, the government has broad powers over transportation, communications, shipping and production and can act without reference to Parliament.

W. J. Browne (PC, St. John's West), speaking prior to the minister, said there is no need for the Emergency Powers Act. The government could bring the War Measures Act into operation with the stroke of a pen.

Previously other opposition speakers, including George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, had argued against further extension of the act, first passed in 1951 and extended last year.

NOT INEVITABLE

Mr. Garson said Prime Minister St. Laurent had made clear that invoking the War Measures Act would create an impression that war was inevitable. It was an act designed for use in a war emergency, not in the present emergency of "apprehended war."

He said those who argued to restrict the powers of the executive, to uphold civil rights and the prerogative of Parliament, could not help but support extension of the Emergency Powers Act.

Under it Parliament clearly defined the powers the government could use. Orders-in-council passed under it had to be tabled in Parliament for the scrutiny of members. And if they disagreed with any particular action, they could present a resolution calling for annulment. The government had promised to give such resolutions priority consideration.

The Sioux Indians in past centuries were second only to the Algonquians as the most numerous tribe north of Mexico.

Perfume Lost

Garbage Man Mistook It For Cleaner

A claim for loss of $50 worth of perfume was presented to the Oak Bay council Wednesday night. The scent had been destroyed by municipal garbage collectors who thought it was a menace.

The loss resulted when Mrs. W. J. M. Tater of Vancouver, formerly of 2755 Lincoln Road, here, asked Oak Bay garbage collectors to remove some rubbish from her cellar during the process of her removal.

Somehow, the garbage man included half a gallon of perfume which was also in the cellar with the unwanted items. Later, because he thought it might be cleaning fluid, he opened the bottle and drained it away.

Questioned later, he said he had noticed a strong smell but did not think the liquid was perfume. Mrs. Tater described it as Suzanne brand, made by Fragrance, in England.

POLICE CALLED

Mrs. Tater contended in a letter to council that the perfume had been with other household effects, piled separately from the rubbish and that everything had been carted away. She had reported the matter to the Oak Bay police.

A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, wrote to the council in defense of the scavenging department. He said he resented Mrs. Tater's action in reporting the matter to police, as it was a reflection on the employee who was actually performing service beyond the call of his duties in entering the cellar at all.

He said the collector was accompanied by a second man and that everything pointed to the perfume being placed in the wrong pile. He recommended that no settlement be made.

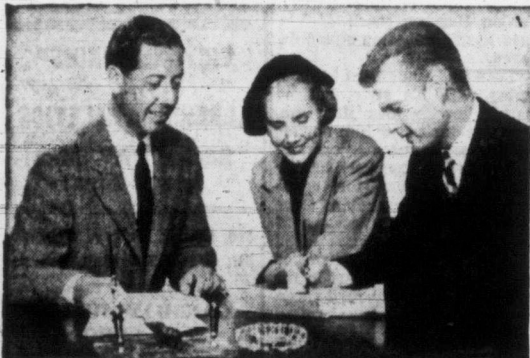

Council reserved their decision on the matter. Meanwhile, by official edict garbage men will refuse to enter basements to take away material.

Oak Bay's Inside Workers Request Change in Agents

Notice that inside employees had applied to the Labor Relations Board to have their bargaining rights transferred to a new body was received by Oak Bay council Wednesday night. Council will oppose the move until current negotiations are concluded.

The Oak Bay Municipal Hall Employees Association was named as the new bargaining agent. Formerly, like the outside workers they had been represented by the Vancouver Island, Civic Council.

Vancouver Gas Price Probe Set For March

BY VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Hearings at Vancouver arising out of investigations into the activities of retail gasoline dealers at the west coast will be held by the Restrictive Trade Practices commission in the latter part of March, it was learned here.

The hearings were scheduled to get underway last month. However, they were postponed at the urgent request of counsel for the gasoline dealers.

C. Rhodes Smith, Q.C., and Guy Favreau, chairman and member of the new commission, respectively will go to Vancouver to conduct the hearings. It is also likely that T. D. MacDonald, Q.C., director of investigation and research in the anti-combines organization, will also attend.

The hearings will be in camera. It is understood that only retail gasoline dealers in the Vancouver area are involved.

First disclosure that the combines commission had been making inquiries into the activities of retail gasoline dealers' associations came in the annual report of Mr. MacDonald, tabled in parliament recently by Hon. Stuart Garson, minister of justice. The report stated that such inquiries were under way in "one eastern and two western provinces." It has since been learned that they are Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia. There had been complaints made to the commission which led to the investigations to determine if common action was being taken to establish uniform selling prices or uniform margins for gasoline in those provinces.

Interviews have been held with officials of the various retail gasoline dealers' associations. Records have been secured by the commission for examination.

Mr. MacDonald has made his report. Under the new setup of the combines commission or the restrictive trade practices commission, the director of investigation is responsible for bringing the material together with submissions as to what effect resulted from the activities which he has investigated.

Vancouver's Canadian Football Future Appears 'Loaded With Possibilities'

VANCOUVER (CP)—The question of who will coach Vancouver's 1954 Western Interprovincial Football Union team is loaded with possibilities although still lacking in probabilities.

Latest name to be mentioned by the Vancouver football club is Joe Kuharich, head coach of Chicago Cardinals of the National Football League last season.

And the club adds that Annis Stukis, who needs no further identification in western Canada at least, is definitely interested in the coaching job and has said so in a letter received by the executive.

The club, which closed talks Wednesday with Jimmy Phelan, coach of Dallas Texans last season, isn't saying who it favors.

"Phelan would like to come here," said club treasurer Bill Ralston, "but he is a sound business man and wants to wait until we have things more definitely organized from a financial viewpoint."

It was Ralston who disclosed that Kuharich may come to Vancouver soon for an interview.

He mentioned the possibility of a "package deal" embracing Kuharich and a key American import, Ollie Matson, star fullback with Cardinals last season.

"He Kuharich is a very good coach," said Ralston, "and there's just the possibility that if he comes here, Matson may come, too."

Matson was all-America at the University of San Francisco in 1951 when Kuharich coached the Dons. When USF dropped football last season, the Cardinals snapped up Kuharich and Matson followed his college coach to the windy city.

Dechene In Fifth Shutout

New Westminster 7, Saskatoon 0

Lucien Dechene is only one shutout away from smashing a Western Hockey League record he set in the days when he was younger and less rotund.

The New Westminster Royals' fatman set the record during the 1950-51 season with five shutouts. He tied it Wednesday night as Royals stormed to a 7-0 win over the league-leading Saskatoon Quakers.

With a fair chunk of play remaining, Dechene has a good chance of getting shutout No. 6. His big threat is Emile "The Cat" Francis of Vancouver Canucks, who also has blanked five opponents so far this season.

The record definitely isn't exclusive. Dechene himself repeated his feat during 1951-52 play and the same season Lorne Worsley, in the nets for Saskatoon, blanked the same number of teams.

BOOSTS STOCK

Royals' victory played a big part in boosting their playoff hopes and carried their unbeaten streak to four games, moving them into a tie with Seattle Bombers for the sixth and last playoff spot.

Royals galloped to a 3-0 lead in the first period and then added two goals in each of the remaining sessions. Blinky Boyce and Jack Hamilton scored two goals each. Singles went to Pete Durham, playing-coach Max McNab and Claude Robert.

League action resumes Friday night with Seattle at Victoria, Saskatoon at Vancouver and Edmonton at Calgary.

A trait peculiar to badminton players is their ability to whale away at each other on the courts with great gusto and then relax together in complete brother and sisterhood at the conclusion of the match. This quintet of players in the city badminton finals at the Amphion Street courts were found

Seeded Players Advance to City Badminton Semifinals

Hoadley To Meet George Lane

They've separated the men from the boys and the women from the girls in the Victoria City Badminton Championships at the Amphion Street Hall.

The week-long tournament goes into semi-finals Friday night as Wednesday's play was devoted to quarter-finals.

Form was followed almost to the letter Wednesday and semifinal play will match top-seeded players.

Three of the top men's singles competitors advanced to the semis Wednesday while another was idle.

Reg Hoadley gained a berth in the men's semi-finals when he rolled over R. Louis 15-1, 15-12. He will be matched against Brentwood's defending champion, George Lane, who qualified by downing B. Ford in straight sets, 15-1, 15-3.

The other semi-final bracket is contested by Jimmy Wells, who defeated Peter Peacock, 15-9, 15-1, and Bill Walters, who did not play Wednesday.

Handicap and veterans' events will be played off tonight. Draw and results follow:

Andy Anderson, one of the guiding lights behind the Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association giant ladder derby, Wednesday night was elected president of the anglers' select group—the Chinook Club.

Only VSIAA members having caught button fish (20 pounds and up) are eligible for membership in this august organization.

Anderson succeeds Capt. A. C. Crutchley.

Henry Lou Poy was named vice-president; Cliff Heglin, secretary-treasurer; W. Robinson, entertainment committee chairman; Frank Wraight, competition committee chairman; Ray Ritchie, finance committee chairman, and Dr. Hugh Clarke, honorary president.

Sophie Heglin was winner of the women's championship with a 29-pound catch while Henry Lou Poy took the men's honor and the Alcock Shield with a 35-pound salmon.

Jim "Kingfish" James took the Peet & Sons Trophy for the largest salmon caught by an embryo member. James hooked a 49-pounder.

MORE CHAMPIONS

Annual Chinook Derby champion was Frank Frost with a 23-pounder. He was awarded the Sylvester Trophy. Anne Heglin and C. Forstrom tied for Currie Perpetual Trophy, symbolic of the Chinook member having caught the most number of button fish during the year.

Mrs. Heglin's catches were 21, 22 and 23 pounds. Forstrom's 22, 24½ and 26 pounds.

Life memberships were presented to Dr. Clarke, Ritchie and Bill Rowe. A women's auxiliary to assist the club in entertainment was set up under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ritchie.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Wednesday's announcement that Muzz Patrick had signed a one-year contract with Tacoma Rockets virtually kills the rumor that the big fellow was on his way to Victoria to relieve his father, Lester, of the ills that have befallen the Cougars.

The latest gambit had Muzz coming here this fall and the Tacoma franchise moving to Spokane. Both of these reports now must be for the birds, although it's no secret that Lester wishes to retire from an active part in the club. He has said so on more than one occasion. And knowing Muzz, it would probably have to be that way, or not at all, if he ever did inherit the Cougar legacy.

Actually, before the Tacoma announcement was made, Muzz disclaimed all knowledge of a possible move here next season, although he did admit "I like Victoria and always did."

However, his immediate love is still Tacoma, where he has weaned his Rockets through dark financial days into never worse than a third-place finish in the Pacific Coast and Western Hockey Leagues.

Muzz is chief cook, bottle washer, rink manager, team coach, publicity agent and general handyman for the Rockets. And he's stubborn enough in his own independent way to establish his own future. And a remarkable job he is doing. His Rockets could again match their unparalleled record this season—a season like others that when pre-season predictions were being made, the Rockets were considered as vulture bait.

Prior to the Tacoma club announcement that he had been rehired—Muzz admitted in a telephone conversation that any report of his coming to Victoria was strictly "speculation."

He May Yet Win the Battle

"I have an obligation to Tacoma," he said. Rather it should be said "Tacoma has an obligation to Muzz." He has done a tremendous amount for hockey there, though Tacomsans are hard to convince of that fact.

While on the speculative aspect of the future, perhaps it would be well to go further and tie the rumor to its roots. It is that the Cougars would retain their present agreement with Canadians, but also that brother Lynn would throw in his lot with the Cougars and with it Boston Bruin farmhands, if Muzz switched his allegiance.

Still Muzz's talents are apparently being sought elsewhere. He readily admitted that he had received other tempting offers, more lucrative probably than his present position, and that he had taken temporary options on two of those. Victoria was not one, he said.

According to the Hockey News, Victoria came close to losing one or two of its defencemen a brief while ago. . . Stan Long and Ivan Irwin were put on the block by Montreal's Frank Selke in an effort by the Habs to secure the services of Bob Sollinger, a Toronto chattel. . . And, too, Irwin and Ross Lowe were offered to the Chicago Black Hawks earlier this season for Gus Bodnar. . . Cougar fans would undoubtedly cringe at the thought of losing Irwin. . . The big blonde is all-star material and its difficult to see how he can be overlooked.

And now Ken Reardon is here to look at the Cougars. . . Seattle, beware. . . The Cats could knock you out of contention too. . .

Insofar as the Cougars' statistical future is concerned, and as recently outlined at great length, perhaps the following would suffice:

"Like the lamp post to the drunk, statistics are more to lean on, than illuminating."

MR. SAKATA TO SHOW IN WRESTLING FEATURE

Mr. Sakata will tangle with George Ducette in the main event of wrestling on promoter Ken Williamson's three-bout card tonight at the Victoria Ballroom.

Tommy Martindale will take on Toi Yamata in the semi-main, while Al Watkins and Dick Hayes battle in the special event opener at 8:30.

Toronto 2, Detroit 0
New York 4, Boston 2

By ED SIMON

A cold wave descended Wednesday night on the two hottest clubs in the National Hockey League.

The high-flying, high-scoring Detroit Red Wings ran into poor flying weather and did not score at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, dropping a 2-0 decision to the Maple Leafs.

At New York, Boston Bruins, riding high on a three-game winning streak, took 4-2 lacing from the Rangers, whose lease on the NHL cellar is unlikely to expire before next fall.

Chief sufferers were the Bruins, whose drive to nail down a playoff spot was thrown abruptly into reverse as the Leafs climbed past them into third place. Chicago Black Hawks can join them on the fourth and last playoff rung by beating the Rangers in Chicago tonight.

Both losing teams ran into trouble from former employees they had sold down the river.

EIGHTH SHUTOUT

Rotund Harry Lumley, the man the Wings disposed of three years ago to make room for Terry Sawchuk, outshone his successor as he turned aside 31 drives on the Toronto net in marking up his eighth shutout.

Paul Ronty, an ex-Bruin and the centre of a line dubbed "the Scavengers" by Boston coach Lynn Patrick, sank a pass from linemate Wally Hergeheimer to start Patrick's club on the road to ruin. And after the Bruins rallied in the third period to cut the Rangers' margin to 3-2, the clincher was provided by Pete Babando.

Duncan Curling

Tonight's draw:

2—Glen Berkey vs. Arthur McDiarmid. Gene Kouty vs. Charlie Pyle. Cyril Lee vs. Tony Lamontagne. Clayton Wright vs. Frank Middlemist. Maurice Dwyer vs. Bud Gillies.

Wednesday's results:

ALBERNI IN SERIES LEAD

Former City Cager Turns On Old Mates

A string-bean centre who used to do his basket thumping for Scott & Peden turned on his former mates Wednesday night and snarled at them 21 points worth.

Laurie Veitch, who starred for Oak Bay High School and the feedmen before he moved to Alberni, was the whole show as Alberni defeated Scott & Peden, 72-60, in the canal city in the first game of the Vancouver Island junior boys' basketball final.

Second game of the two-game, total-point series is scheduled for Saturday night at Oak Bay Junior High School as a preliminary to the Victoria Kins-Alberni Athletics senior play-off.

Line-ups follow:
Alberni—Mendell 17, Williamson 11, Veitch 21, Boylen 8, Pennington 2. Scott & Peden—Perry 2, Sweney 4, Knowles 1. Total—72.

Scott & Peden—Davies 11, Winkle 2, Jackson 8, Anderson 7, Stokes, Hampden 6, Bruning 5, Halliday 8, Ross Marshall 8. (Tied).

With Veitch handling most of the scoring, Alberni built up a 29-16 lead at the half and stretched it to 59-32 going into the last half.

Scott & Peden came to life in the last quarter but ran out of time. Alberni will carry a 12-point cushion into the second game.

Long shot artist Lennie Anderson kept Alberni from making a rout of the game as he found the Alberni basket for 22 points, one better than Veitch. Ken Mossell added 17 points to the Alberni cause.

Horgan Wants a Big Cup of Tea

BY DENNY BOYD

Pat Horgan hopes to have his farewell swig of iced tea served in a silver cistern Sunday night.

Horgan, fiery manager of Victoria Kins, will be leaving Victoria, Sunday, for a six-week sales course in Edmonton.

But before Pat leaves, he'd like to have something to celebrate, something like Kins' winning the Vancouver Island senior men's basketball title from the Alberni Athletics, for instance.

If that happens, Horgan vows, the potables will be on him and he'll be serving them in the trophy that signifies the island title. Should the Kins become Island champions, Horgan won't be around to see them compete with the winner of the Vancouver Island senior men's basketball title from the Alberni Athletics, for instance.

And if the Kins wish to send their manager back to Edmonton in a happy frame of mind, they will have to knock off Alberni in two straight games, Friday and Saturday nights.

The best-of-five championship series is currently tied at one game apiece after the Alberni round. Kins won the first game by a 76-62 score last Friday night as Johnny Clark (37) and Bobby Boyes (25) scored 62 points between them in the club's greatest point orgy of the season.

However, Alberni, not a team to make the same mistakes two nights in a row, completely frosted the Kins' attack in the second game as they held Clark to eight points and Boyes to four. In addition, Alberni rediscovered the route to the Kins' basket and hung up a 62-41 victory that soured the heady wine of Friday's victory.

But past games are past history, and the Kins, to a man, feel that they are driving the bus this time as all remaining games in the series will be played in Victoria.

The two week-end games and the fifth game, if necessary, will be in the Oak Bay Junior High School, which has a floor surface considerably larger than the Alberni pad.

Coach Busher Jackson feels that this very difference in floor size may be the turning point in the Kins' favor, as they have played nearly all their home games this season at Esquimalt High School, which has exactly the same gym dimensions as Oak Bay. Alberni may have trouble adapting themselves to the wider and longer floor.

Any fan who has followed the fortunes and misfortunes of the team this season knows that the Kins can be just as good as they want to be.

When they run as fast as they can, check like senior A players, and shoot without fear of missing, they can surprise even themselves with the results produced.

Unfortunately they can be just as bad as they can be good. There have been times this season when they appeared to lack, not only the ability, but the will to win ball games. But then a week later they play like champions and redeem themselves. Such a situation is tough for a coach, but Jackson has brought his club a long way since he took over this year.

Incidentally, backers of the week-end games already have a guarantee of at least coming close to making expenses. But this is not to the credit of local fans; there are 150 screamingly enthusiastic Alberni fans who plan to invade Victoria in a body for Saturday night's game. Those Alberni people love their basketball and their team.

Ring-Wise Youngsters Enter Gloves

Two bright lights and a clever rookie are the latest entrants in the Victoria Daily Times Golden Gloves boxing tournament at the Armories Feb. 28.

The young veterans are Bobby Thompson of the Fire Department Club and Lloyd Tahouney of James Bay, while the newcomer is young Harry Richardson of James Bay.

Thompson is regarded as potentially one of the classiest of the younger midget-fighters in the city.

In the 1951 Silver Gloves in Vancouver he not only won the B.C. title in the 106-pound division but was given a silver wrist watch after being chosen Futurity Boy, the boxer showing the best all-round ability in the two-day tournament.

He won the 106-pound division title by beating Buddy Pearson of Vancouver who later went on to win the Canadian crown in the 112 class.

Thompson will be fighting at 112 pounds this year.

Tahouney, the dark-haired brawler, was named Vancouver Island Golden Boy last year in The Times tournament. He is entered in the 119-pound class.

The teams fought evenly through the first half, which ended in a 14-12 edge for the Dockers. Esquimalt wrapped up the game in the third quarter, outscoring the Bay 11-1. Bev Ross and Pat Lisle netted 13 and 10 points, respectively, for the winners, while Crystal Ivings paced Oak Bay with 8.

British Rally Behind Injured Soccer Star

PRESTON, Eng. (AP)—Sports-loving Britain rallied to the aid of Derek Dooley, stricken soccer hero, with cash and job offers as he lay critically ill in a hospital here today.

Dooley, his athletic career cut short at 23 by the amputation of his right leg, was reported a little better.

The hulking redhead, star centre-forward for Sheffield Wednesday of the English Soccer League's first division, broke the leg in a collision with the Preston North End goalkeeper Saturday. Gangrene later set in, forcing amputation.

Jack Coulton, a London insurance clerk who won $109,174 in two football pools Saturday, wrote Dooley a cheque for $5,000.

Jimmy Hagen, star of the rival Sheffield United team, announced a country-wide Dooley testimonial fund to which fans will be asked to contribute one shilling apiece.

Officials of the Sheffield

Wednesday club planned a benefit game for their fallen star which they estimated will net him around $10,000. They also assured Dooley's wife that a job will be found for him in the club organization.

The London Daily Mirror, mass circulation tabloid, meanwhile offered Dooley a post as its sports adviser.

"We feel our offer means something more than a useful job to a youngster who suddenly finds himself crippled and his life plans wrecked," the Mirror said. "It will take him week by week to the great football grounds where he made his name, and keep him in touch with the sport he loves so much."

LANDY STEPS OUT

BENDIGO, Australia (AP)—John Landy, Australia's premier miler, stepped the mile in 4:11 Wednesday night to win the northern Victorian championship in record time for the meet.

Officials of the Sheffield

NEW YORK (AP)—It's baseball spring training time again. From now until early April reports of the aches and pains and training games of some 600 assorted athletes will be seeping northward and eastward from playing fields in Florida, Cuba, Arizona and California.

Rookies you've never heard of, and many you'll never hear of again, will blaze into prominence. Veterans will try to absorb enough spring sunshine and enthusiasm to stretch one more season out of their sometimes unwilling bodies.

Baseball players tend to pile on pounds during the winter when they switch from a game a day to a fireside-and-slippers routine. So weight naturally is a big topic as the training camps open.

WEIGHT FINE

Eddie Stanky levied a $2-a-pound weight fine against his St. Louis Cardinals. When the Red Bird pitchers and catchers showed up at St. Petersburg, Fla., Wednesday, Cliff Chambers had to dig up $13. Stanky himself was 4½ pounds over and paid $9. Al Brazle and coach Johnny Riddle also were overweight.

At Brooklyn's lavish Vero Beach, Fla., layout, Roy Campanella pointed to the scales with pride as he weighed in at 203, almost 18 pounds under his World Series weight of last season.

The Dodgers decided to put in their first regular drill today although some of the players have been around for a couple of weeks.

Clem Labine, almost a dead loss because of arm trouble last year, threw fast and hard Wednesday and said his arm felt fine. Ralph Branca, another 1952 sore arm casualty, reported ready for full-scale work.

FLU CASUALTY

The news wasn't so pleasant at the West Palm Beach camp of Philadelphia Athletics. After only one workout pitcher Harry Byrd, last year's American League rookie-of-the-year, went to bed with the flu. He had a temperature of 101.

In San Bernardino, Calif., St. Louis Browns, rounding out a full week of training, spent the day practicing run-down plays between home plate and third base.

Chicago Cubs open today at Mesa, Ariz.

Saskatchewan Beaten In High School 'Spiel

SASKATOON (CP)—The possibility looks good of Canada's high school curling title going eastward for the first time.

Skip Bob Walker and three other Ontario players from the Oshawa Collegiate and Vocational Institute were hot Wednesday night as they trounced Saskatchewan 11-3.

It was Saskatchewan's first defeat in the nine-game round-robin competition and lifted Ontario into a first-place tie. Each has six wins and one loss.

KRAMER FALTERS AGAIN; CAN'T PASS SEDGMAN

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Australian ace Frank Sedgman defeated Jack Kramer in straight sets, 8-6, 11-9, Wednesday night to take a 16-15 match edge in their pro tennis tour.

Ken McGregor, the other half of the Aussie combination, defeated Pancho Segura 6-2, 6-3. It was McGregor's eighth victory compared with 24 for Segura.

In the doubles, the U.S. duo defeated Sedgman-McGregor, 6-4, in the one set played. The Americans have a 16-15 edge in doubles.

Navy-Vids Ice Playoff To Follow WHL Game

Navy could break a third-place tie with Army Friday night when they meet Individual Cleaners following the Victoria Cougar-Seattle Bomber Western Hockey League contest.

If Individuals win, a game will be held between Army and Navy Sunday night at 10:15 to decide third place.

The public is invited on both occasions as guests of the league.

VIC HIGH TRIPS GRADS

Oak Bay Impressive In Rugger Victory

Oak Bay High School appears to be well on its way to retaining the Howard Russell Cup for the 10th straight year.

Bays pounded out a 20-0 victory over Esquimalt Wednesday to make their first appearance in the Inter-High School Boys' Senior A Rugby League an impressive one.

Victory moves Bays into a first-place tie with Victoria High School who, in its first outing, trounced Esquimalt 26-0.

The undefeated league leaders will clash Monday on Victoria High grounds in the first of the two meetings between these clubs.

Bays had little trouble disposing of Esquimalt with scrum-half Ron Hurley turning in a sparkling game.

Jim Stothard, Bob Showers, Colin Creighton, Norm Dixon, Don Cox and Dave Unwin scored tries while Don Gillam made good one convert.

In an exhibition game, Victoria High's A club held the school grads to an 8-8 draw with Garry Pynn scoring all of the grads' points on a try, penalty kick and convert.

Don Donahue scored a try and John Skillings scored with

Prepare Daughter to Meet Adolescent Physical Change

It would be a good thing if all parents tried, from time to time, to remember how they felt and behaved when they were the same age as their children are now. Perhaps this is more important when a youngster is in the stage of life known as adolescence than at any other period.

This column is devoted to a few of the problems of adolescence in girls.

The beginning of adolescence in girls is often dated from the first period of menstruation. This event commonly starts around the age of 13, but the physical changes of adolescence in girls do not always come at the same age. There is usually no cause for alarm if there is delay until 14 or 15, or if the menses start before 13.

The age when adolescence begins varies with different families, racial backgrounds, climate and perhaps diet and other factors.

Girls should be instructed before this time as to what to expect and should be told that the changes which occur are a perfectly normal step toward maturity. The mother or a physician should discuss the beginning of adolescence fully and frankly before the definite signs of it appear. If this is not done, menstruation may start unexpectedly and cause a good deal of emotional disturbance.

Information concerning adolescent changes should be given in a completely matter-of-fact way. A girl should be told that she is only one of millions of her own age who are going through the same experience at the same time.

It should be explained also that the changes about to develop are the result of increased activity of the part of those hormones or internal glands which have to do with femininity. As a rule this information comes best from a thoughtful mother.

During adolescence many girls are nervous and behave erratically. They often cry easily, take unreasonable dislikes to people, food or activities, and fly off the handle at members of their family for no apparent reason. The girls themselves often realize this but keep on just the same.

Parents need not give in too much, since it is not fair to others to behave unreasonably, no matter what the excuse.

IGNORE OUTBURSTS

But parents must also understand that these things do happen and they should not worry about the seeming personality change which often develops. When strange behavior on the part of adolescent girls does break out, the parents can often best ignore the outburst altogether, take it calmly and yet continue to be firm about those things which really matter.

Adolescence is often not a happy time either for the girl or her family. Fortunately, it does not last forever and the daughter usually decides eventually that her parents are not so terrible after all.

Queen Victoria reigned for 63 years until her death in 1901, longer than any other British sovereign.

Former Oak Bay Reeve Asks Successor To Pay Visit

An invitation for a weekend visit with a former reeve was received by Oak Bay council there Wednesday night. It was from Canadian Ambassador to Japan, Robert W. Mayhew. Reeve P. A. Gibbs read a letter to the council in which Mr. Mayhew stated that new Canadian Pacific Airline's service made Japan only 16 hours away from Victoria.

The letter stated that the weather in Japan registered 13 degrees of frost at night, although the sun shone daily. He said he and Mrs. Mayhew are enjoying their life there.

Reporting on the authenticity of an ancient map of Japan, dated 1600, which was presented to him prior to his departure, Mr. Mayhew said it was verified as being genuine and was creating much interest there.

It dates back, he added, to the Jesuit period before the foreigners were driven from Japan. Students are investigating it further and the ambassador promised a further report on it.

Condemnation Urged For 2 Oak Bay Houses

Two dwellings in Oak Bay were recommended for condemnation to council by health, building and fire officials Wednesday night. The matter was referred to a special meeting for action. They are located at 964A Byng Street and 2479 McNeil Avenue.

School Cost Stand Joined By Oak Bay

Oak Bay lined up with other Greater Victoria municipalities Wednesday night in its decision to protest the 1953 school cost estimates.

Following the lead of Esquimalt and Saanich councils, Oak Bay criticized suggested architects' fees, legal costs, automobile costs and salaries.

Reeve P. A. Gibbs stated that he had every confidence in the school board but councillors thought cuts should be made in the estimates.

Clr. F. E. Norris brought smiles from the meeting when he said, "When you build a new factory, you expect to get a better product at a cheaper cost - so far we are getting neither."

(BB) "FLAT TOP" and "BATTLE ZONE" (Plaza) — For admirers of war action pictures this double bill at the Plaza is a good one.

Having a soft spot in my heart for the navy I particularly enjoyed "Flat Top," starring Sterling Hayden and Richard Carlson. Featuring the work of the U.S.N.'s famed Hell Divers, this colorful picture was tense and exciting. Shots of Japanese aircraft coming in to shoot up the carrier; watching young U.S. airmen go up to meet them, wondering when their luck would change; watching the great guns boom out their fiery blasts at night; were exciting and nostalgic. Action was paramount in "Flat Top" and everything played second fiddle to it, particularly the plot which was—in brief—fledgling pilots learning to obey commands of their senior officer without hesitation or doubt.

An interesting highlight is the comparison between the fighting aircraft of the Second World War and today's jet jobs. The planes we used to think so fast look like something driven by an outboard motor after you've seen the wonder planes of this brand new atomic era of ours.

"Battle Zone," to my mind, wasn't quite so exciting, although it was passably interesting because it was about a branch of the fighting services that one thinks little about—the photographic branch.

As Danny Young and Mitch Turner, John Hodiak and Stephen McNally, Marine Corps photographers get into the Korea war just as the Allied drive to reach the Yalu River begins. But when the drive bogs down the two volunteers to nip behind enemy lines disguised as Red soldiers and photograph everything they can for the information of intelligence. However, when a spy in the Allied ranks informs on Mitch, and Danny the fun begins and the boys have to fight their way back. Linda Christian as a Red Cross worker provides the love interest.

John Emerson—"The Man Who Came to Dinner."

MAKES LIKE MONTY WOOLLEY Man of Many Gifts York Players' Star

By SINJIN MAUDLIN
Noted Canadian pianist-violinist-actor-raceur, John Emerson, makes his Victoria debut Monday night with the York Players as "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

In re-creating the role of Sheridan Whiteside, the wheelchair critic, Mr. Emerson tilts once again with the Kauffman-Hart lines, in a performance which delighted Vancouver patrons of the Avon theatre last season. "Brilliant," said the Point Grey News Gazette. He will be supported next week by virtually the entire York company, as the play calls for a cast of 21.

Mr. Emerson, whose coast-to-coast radio show, "Club Date," is known to thousands of CBC listeners, is that rare avian—a farm boy who made good in the sophisticated salons of drawing-room comedy. Born in Spuzzum, B.C., 29 years ago, Mr. Emerson as a boy won a Shakespearean declamation contest and became known as "The Cariboo Casius."

At the age of 13 he entered University of B.C., where he took honors in calculus and physics, and became affiliated with Delta Gamma and the Players' Club. While in Victoria for the run of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," Mr. Emerson is billeted at the YMCA.

KINDERGARTEN APPROVED

In response to enquiries from the department of health and welfare, Oak Bay council Wednesday night approved premises at 772 Victoria for operation of a kindergarten by Mrs. Mary M. Tempest.

Tentative plans call for a concert March 1 at the Sirocco at 8.30 with King's 16-piece modern orchestra and guest artists. Door prizes will be given away. Advance tickets will be sold in addition to a silver collection that will be taken at the door. Net proceeds will be donated to the Solarium.

NEIGHBORS URGED TO WORK JOINTLY

Seattle C of C Manager Tells City Bureau That Harmony Necessary to Develop Gas, Oil

Business interests in the United States and Canada should work in closer harmony to develop the vast natural resources of the Pacific Northwest, according to Donald M. Follett, general manager of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

Triple Traffic Loads Highways Salesman Says

Traffic on Canadian highways has almost tripled in the past 10 years, according to Larry Wagner, Victoria automobile salesman.

He told the Victoria Real Estate Board Wednesday that the number of cars using the roads in Canada has increased from 1,500,000 in 1942 to over 3,000,000 today.

Mr. Wagner displayed an educational film entitled "Road Block" produced by the Canadian Good Roads Association.

Urging strong support for the roads association, he said Canadian highways are so far behind present traffic requirements that it would take $4,000,000,000 to put them into shape.

Canada Should Not Support U.S. Use A-Bomb-Douglas

REGINA (CP).—Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan thinks Canada should "give no support whatever" to any unilateral action by the United States in using the atomic bomb, a blockade or an attack on the Chinese mainland.

Speaking in the Throne speech debate in the provincial legislature Wednesday, Mr. Douglas called on External Affairs Minister Pearson to resist any such undertakings instigated by the "China lobby or some trigger-happy general in the Pentagon."

He reaffirmed his faith in the CCF Regina manifesto and said he is more convinced than ever "it is the only hope of bringing lasting peace to the world."

Toronto Reporter Guilty of Stealing Dead Girl's Diary

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP).—Angela Burke, 29, Toronto Daily Star reporter, was convicted Wednesday of stealing a diary owned by the girl victim in a shooting case. She was given suspended sentence. Her lawyer said the verdict will be appealed.

Evidence was that Miss Burke took a diary belonging to the late Marie Huras after receiving permission from Miss Huras' landlady to visit the girl's room and remove the diary, which was returned after examination.

Magistrate J. H. R. Kirkpatrick said that, on reviewing cases quoted to him, he found the landlady had no right to give Miss Burke permission to take the diary and that Miss Burke had no right to remove the diary from the girl's room.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, Wednesday, at the Empress Hotel, Mr. Follett said: "We need to talk about the future uses of our hydro power and our gas and oil resources."

"Business and industrial interests on both sides of the border have not been discussing the problem in the best way for common development," he said. Referring to the tourist industry, Mr. Follett said Victoria sets the pace and the standard for the entire northwest.

"Follow the birds to Victoria" is the most widely known slogan in the U.S. of any symbol of community attraction, he said.

George I. Warren, Victoria's publicity commissioner, is the "greatest guy in the entire tourist industry," Mr. Follett stated.

Victoria's famous hospitality is one of the city's greatest assets for tourist attraction, Mr. Follett added. He warned, however, that the responsibility for maintaining this reputation rests largely with the general public here.

The speaker was introduced by Stuart Keate, Times publisher and thanked by W. L. Woodhouse.

CUMBERLAND.—Residents here have donated more than $1,000 to help 18 persons who lost all their possessions in a fire that destroyed the Union Hotel Feb. 8.

Mayor Wins Fight to Stop Watershed Logging

Mayor Claude Harrison won his long fight over logging on Sooke Lake watershed when tenders for a test logging scheme were rejected 43 at a meeting of Greater Victoria water board Wednesday.

The mayor also gathered sufficient support, 43, for his move to have no logging contracts let without a vote of the people.

Bicycle License Sales Show Decrease of 1,000

Bicycle license sales are 1,000 less than the total for this time last year, according to officials here. Cyclists have until the end of this month to renew their tags at which time police checks will be made and offenders will be summoned. Police point out it is a good insurance to have a bike license. Since 1946, when the system began, many stolen bikes have been recovered through the central registry. Tags cost 50c, first registrations $1.

As there is no such provision in the present Water District Act provincial government enabling legislation will be sought to permit putting a bylaw to the electorate on watershed logging policy.

The plan to log three test patches on Rithet Creek was a "compromise" reach by the 1952 board. Commissioners were instructed to call for tenders. Seven were received.

OAK BAY BACKING

Voting with the mayor were Ald. Robert Macmillan and Ald. Brent Murdoch, Victoria representatives, and Councillor George Gregory of Oak Bay. Opposed were Reeve Joe Casey of Saanich, chairman; Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt and Ald. Don Smith of Victoria.

Water commissioners Ron Upward and I. D. Lachlan had recommended acceptance of a tender from the Sooke Lake Lumber Co. which would have netted the board $60,944.

Mr. Upward suggested that since tenders had been sought and $600 spent on advertising, logging proceed on the three areas, with a referendum put to the people concerning any future cutting.

Mayor Harrison did not agree with this. Councillor Gregory, representing Oak Bay in the absence of Reeve P. A. Gibbs, said as a newcomer he could not say whether there should be logging or not, so had to vote in the negative.

The board authorized logging of 3,000,000 board feet of timber in the Goldstream area and another 3,000,000 in the Niagara vicinity to complete a project begun last year.

The mayor raised the question of chlorination. He felt if the logging were prevented in the Rithet Creek area, there was some hope of eventually "getting rid" of chlorination.

Council Hears Plan For City Bridges

Pay-As-You-Go Scheme Advocated For Rock Bay, Point Ellice Spans

New Point Ellice and new Rock Bay bridges, to be built on a "pay-as-you-go" basis, were advocated at a special city council meeting today.

Ald. Percy Scurrell asked council to adopt a policy calling for a two-lane Point Ellice Bridge to be paid for with money set aside from land sales and possible federal and provincial government aid.

He felt a start could be made in 1954. Mayor Claude Harrison, long an advocate of re-establishment of the old Rock Bay Bridge, asked that it be rebuilt as soon as money is available. He suggested getting aid from senior governments.

Feature of both proposals was that no money would be borrowed. "It must be pay-as-you-go," said Ald. Scurrell. "I definitely do not want any by-laws put to the people asking for more money."

ASK FOR AID

He felt the city might realize about $150,000 from land sales this year, which could be used; and the senior governments could be approached for aid.

Ald. Scurrell felt a two-lane bridge with 26-foot roadway would be adequate. Previous plans have called for lifting the level of the existing bridge.

"If the federal government wants a high level bridge let it help accordingly," he said. The department of transport and of national defense both have reason to interest themselves in a bridge project, the alderman believes.

He stated he was through asking for a capital city grant and advocated demanding taxes from both federal and provincial governments. The city should get $231,000 in taxes, which it does not receive at present, he said.

VARIED ESTIMATES

Estimates of cost on a new bridge have varied in the past eight years from $250,000 to nearly $900,000, depending on plans. Some called for two-lane,

BACKBENCHER SET TO BREAK SOUND BARRIER

L. L. King (SC, Fort George) Friday afternoon will become the first government backbencher to speak in the current session of the Legislature.

He will break the pall of silence which has hung over the past two weeks as they declined to participate in the Throne Speech debate.

Two other speakers will be P. A. Gibbs (Lib., Oak Bay) and Mrs. Laura Jamieson (CCF, Vancouver Centre).

Only speaker at tonight's sitting of the House, which will start at 8 p.m., will be Provincial Secretary Wesley Black.

B.C. Prepared to Pay Extra Policing Cost

Government Estimates Indicate UBC Faculty to Get More Pay

The provincial government apparently is prepared to pay the additional $600 per RCMP officer requested recently by the force's headquarters in Ottawa.

Estimates of 1953-54 expenditures, filed in the Legislature Wednesday, call for $760,000 to be paid out for RCMP services compared with $571,000 last year.

RCMP asked the government and municipalities to increase payment from $1,400 to $2,000 annually for each of its men in the province. The government would have to pay for 378 Mounties now policing unorganized territory. Municipalities have 188 RCMP officers.

The municipalities have withheld action on the request for increases, seemingly waiting to see what the provincial government would do.

UBC SALARIES UP

Salary increases for University of British Columbia faculty members is indicated in the estimates. Provincial grants to UBC next year are up $273,000 to $2,500,000.

The government evidently isn't planning to go ahead with plans for an alcoholic treatment farm because it has allocated only $25,000 for this work. It is understood the money will be used for certain work at UBC in co-operation with the department of health and welfare.

Similarly, the government apparently isn't pursuing a pilot treatment centre for drug addicts, first proposed by the former attorney-general, Gordon Wismer. Only $25,000 is allocated for drug treatment.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner will make a statement to the House on both these matters.

$60,000 ALLOCATION

A start will be made on the work of standardizing fire hose couplings in B.C. for civil defense purposes. An allocation of $60,000 has been made. The whole job, however, will cost several times that amount. Total civil defense grants are increased from $223,000 to $352,000.

The government, while reportedly in favor of driver-training in high schools, doesn't think the government should pay for

Court Fines Total $320 From Erring Car Drivers

City police court cash register rang up a total of $320 in fines today from erring motorists.

Middle-aged Manitoba visitor John E. Black, staying at 25 Carlton, was fined $200 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving a car while his ability was impaired by alcohol Wednesday night.

"I'm sorry it happened. Your Worship, I don't make it a habit of driving when I've been drinking," Black told Magistrate H. C. Hall.

The magistrate said he would make a report to the motor vehicle superintendent, who determines length of license suspensions.

The new "dual" charge plan was brought into play in the case of Charles Bakhtour, 2808 Irma. Magistrate Hall withdrew an original charge of impaired driving against Bakhtour on the application of Prosecutor Alan Bigelow who said "additional evidence has been acquired in accused's favor."

The lesser charge of careless driving was laid and Bakhtour pleaded guilty. He was fined $40.

Court was told Bakhtour was involved in a collision with parked cars on Gorge Road last Saturday night in which extensive damage was done. Police said accused had been drinking.

QUADRUPLE CHARGE
Ranjeet Singh Manhas, 723 Market, was fined a total of $50—of exceeding the speed limit, operating a truck with no rear light, no rear-view mirror or clearance lights. Manhas pleaded guilty to all charges in court Wednesday.

Gerald V. Cameron, 1909 Fernwood, was fined $20 for driving a car with inadequate brakes. Court was told he was in collision with another car at Leighton and Richmond-February 10. He pleaded guilty.

Rodney G. Newton, 2211 Sayward, pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to notify the motor vehicle branch of a change of address and was fined $10.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Mysterious unsigned note found in this columnist's typewriter:

"I do not object to your scornful references to a certain type of salad dressing, nor do I expect you to EAT the stuff."

"But please, learn the correct SPELLING of mayonnaise."

• At least two desk men, a compositor, a proof-reader and I are blushing profusely.

There must have been a similar feeling of embarrassment on the Winnipeg Free Press the day this advertisement appeared on the church page:

"DIOCESE OF RUPERT'S LAND CHAMPAIGN FOR CHURCH EXTENSION IN GREATER WINNIPEG."
C.W.M., Oak Bay Avenue, who sent along the clipping, comments: "Apparently they must also be planning some change in liquor legislation in Manitoba."

"I only hope we Presbyterians stay with our own 'scotch' product."

Incidentally, I see that I refer to an extract from the paper as a "clipping," and that in C.W.M.'s letter, he called it a "cutting."

Over home, of course, there would be no doubt about which word is correct.

But which should we use in Victoria? Is this so much a bit of Old England that we should stick to "cutting?" Or are we new-world independents, permitted to use clipping?

Perhaps we'd better compromise with something like "cutling."

Have you played the currently popular game, "Bringing Down the Budget?"

It is all the rage these days. It can be played by any number, from one to how many are there in the government?

All you need to play is an unlimited supply of dollar signs and as many 000,000's as you can find.

The lead-off player brings down the budget, and then sits back while all the other players tell him how they could have brought it down so much better.

Idle thought: Wonder if, after the budgets are brought down, someone will do the same thing for the cost of living?

$2,000 NEEDED FOR EXPENSES
Coronation Trip Plans Shaping

Campaign to have two high school students represent Greater Victoria at Queen Elizabeth's coronation June 2 moved into high gear today.

A special committee of the area's five high school principals was formed, and J. F. K. English, senior municipal inspector of schools, will be chairman.

Objective of the campaign is $2,000 by April 10, Mr. English said.

The individual high schools themselves have set tentative financial goals, not yet announced.

A public appeal will be launched by Mr. English and his committee. Parent-teacher groups, service clubs, veterans and other organizations as well as the public at large will be asked to help in this community effort.

SELECTION DELAYED
"Choosing of students from the five high schools can wait until receipts of funds look promising," Mr. English said.

He added he did not want to start selection too early and have hopes of the children dashed, should insufficient funds be raised.

The school board has given its blessing but could make no monetary contribution.

Candidates will be voted on by students at Victoria, Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Mount View and Mt. Douglas High Schools and screened by principals and staff on basis of scholarship, citizenship, character and personality.

A boy and a girl from each school will be selected and their names drawn from a hat to decide the lucky boy and girl, who will represent the whole school system.

If the necessary $2,000 is raised Victoria students should leave here May 15 to join a Vancouver contingent of eight.

Tobaccoists Anticipate Cut in Cigarette Tax

Tom Matthews, Government Street, tobaccoist, has let cigarette stocks dwindle almost to vanishing point in anticipation of lower taxes and subsequently lower prices, expected to be announced tonight in federal budget.

Like others in trade, he does not want to be "caught" with high-priced goods.

CITY CRITICAL OF SCHOOL TAX FORMULA

Council's Control Feared Diminished

City of Victoria must find $87,511 instead of $177,000 for increased school costs this year under the new education cost formula announced in the B.C. budget in Legislature Wednesday, city manager Cecil Wyatt estimates.

Despite the reduction of $89,489 civic officials are looking askance at the general effect of the new formula.

They feel it narrows greatly City Council's control of the mill rate and gives greater power to school boards.

The city is permitted to raise a maximum for general purposes of 35 mills. Last year the general purpose levy was 21 and the school levy 24 1/2.

Under the new formula the school levy is decreased by nine mills and the general purpose increased, leaving a narrow margin of only five mills, before the city would be at its maximum.

There has been no change for years in the maximum according to city officials.

School boards may now go directly to the people when they wish to put a money by-law. Prior to the new formula they had to request council to submit the by-law.

School board chairman R. H. Reeve felt the move would make no difference in the attitude of the board.

VINDICATION
He claimed, however, that school boards have "finally been vindicated" on the matter of the SS and MA tax.

"We have said all along that the SS and MA was for education and the municipalities have said no," said Mr. Reeve. "Now this formula clearly shows the SS and MA is for education."

In Vancouver civic officials protested that the city may actually lose money on the new formula, although government sources have estimated the extra grant at $750,000.

One of the main fears in Vancouver is that the government proposal to make school districts borrow the full cost of new schools, instead of 50 per cent, will force Vancouver beyond the limit of its borrowing powers.

Vancouver Point Grey MLA George Miller said he was disappointed with the scheme, and added "it looks like Vancouver, Burnaby and Victoria get the short end of the stick." (These three areas, over 50,000 population, must pay a 75 per cent share of school cost increases.)

"I can't see how it can do anything but cost us money," Miller said.

LITTLE JOKE BIG TROUBLE FOR EXASPERATED POLICE

A club steward's little joke caused big trouble today. Two detectives wasted an hour solving the case of the lost liquor stock at Army, Navy and Air Force Wharf Street club premises.

In an empty cabinet was a note saying: "Thanks for the refreshments."

It seems the steward found the lock broken, removed the liquor to a safer place and left the note Wednesday night for his relief colleague as a lark.

Policemen didn't laugh.

Praise for Budget Outweighs Criticism

Pay-As-You-Go Policy Approved By Men in Business and Industry

There was more praise than criticism for B.C.'s new budget in Victoria's business community today. Merchants, bankers, industrial traders and business men generally agreed "it is a fine budget."

"They deserve great credit for cutting expenditures this year and their pay-as-you-go policy is bound to be popular almost everywhere," one banker said.

"We're glad to see them lay all the facts of government spending and income right on the line, too," another commented.

"Previously we got only estimates to the end of the former year," he explained. "This time, however, Mr. Gunderson has said how much he expects to collect right up to March, 1953."

RESTAURANTS RELIEVED
Restaurant operators were happy about the bigger meal tax exemption, from 50 cents to $1.

"That tax stuck in a lot of peoples' throats when they were eating in restaurants," he said, "and we believe it hurt our local business a lot."

Timber traders felt certain the larger forestry operators could absorb the tax increases on their earnings disclosed in the budget.

"The big operators can absorb the tax hike and the small fellows have an exemption up to $25,000, so that's just fine," one lumber dealer said.

City chartered accountants had nothing but admiration for the new financial program of Mr. Gunderson, an accountant himself.

"He's made a splendid start. We hope he can keep it up. And we think he can, according to the lines laid down in the new budget," one executive of a leading city accountancy firm said.

"We feel the program of planned efficiency, pay-as-you-go and no borrowing is exactly right for these times," he continued. "Many business interests note that prices are declining and inflation is fading. This is no time, therefore, to boost government spending or to add to the provincial debt."

Real estate operators were jubilant about the terms of revision outlined for the school taxation.

"This will take some of the burden of school costs off the property owner," one real estate official said, "and will ease the tax position of the house owner. The net result should be a boost for new home building and sales," he said.

Thus Central Saanich, which was incorporated in 1951, does not receive the minimum amount, and is only collecting $300 in taxes from the property.

Central Saanich Would Increase BCER Taxes

Central Saanich is seeking a municipal act amendment which would allow the municipality to increase taxes by $8,000 on the B.C. Electric Brewed Steam Plant, Reeve Sydney Pickles said Wednesday.

The reeve has placed the municipality's case before Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black.

The municipality wants the right to collect taxes on the public utilities plant and machinery equal to the amount collected in 1947.

Before that year, municipalities were able to tax power plants according to their value. But a municipal act amendment removed the tax on power plant assets and substituted a 2 per cent tax on sales within the municipality.

It was ruled the amount collected by the new tax was not to be less than the amount collected by the former tax. The new provision, however, made no mention of new municipalities.

Thus Central Saanich, which was incorporated in 1951, does not receive the minimum amount, and is only collecting $300 in taxes from the property.

First Wheat Load Arrives For Ogden Point Elevator

For the first time since 1942, Canadian wheat flowed into Ogden Point grain elevator today.

Fifteen carloads being unloaded are the forerunners of a steady flow, which will bring new revenue to this port.

First ships to load grain here are not expected until at least 200,000 bushels are in storage. Today's shipment totals a little less than 30,000 bushels.

The elevator is still about half full of U.S. government-owned corn, which has been in storage since December, 1949. Between 1942 and 1949, the elevator was empty.

The wheat, from Alberta, arrived here in boxcars aboard a Canadian National Railway car ferry.

Victoria Elevators Ltd., operators of the Ogden Point elevator, have started considerable repair and maintenance work, including replacement of the lower sections of loading spouts.

Gathering o' the Clans
At Local Jewelry Store

By PENNY SAVER

It'll cost you a wee bit siller, mon, but any Scotsman would get his money's worth in pleasure to present his gude wife with a sterling silver badge bearing his clan crest and slogan.

As every Scotsman knows, each clan has a distinctive badge—some native plant or flower. Their respective war cries were chosen from the name of a notable natural feature in the area where they dwelt.

Only some crests are immediately available but any crest can be obtained. If necessary, this local jewelry store will send right to Scotland to supply your particular clan crest and slogan. It's attractively contained in a box patterned with your own tartan. Just dig into your sporrans for $4.95.

Or maybe you'd rather gie her a plastic face cloth for 36 cents. It's for sure she'll never know what it is until you tell her! It has the appearance of a perforated honeycomb booklet, which pulls out to be a 16-inch square wash cloth. When immersed in water, this cloth becomes very soft and gentle to your skin. When dry, it returns to its original crispness.

Everyone will be walking on lamb's wool when they find these new insoles in a downtown department store. Obtainable in sizes 3 to 11 for men, women and children, these insoles are made of the highest quality sheep's wool and may be washed when soiled. Children's sizes are 39 cents, and adults, 49.

To save wear and tear on your hosiery and lingerie, try a nylon laundry bag at 69 cents. Made with a draw tape, these bags will successfully protect your fragile garments from runs or snags when giving them that daily dunk.

When I stopped to admire a very colorful shopping bag, resembling a round cushion, I never suspected that it was crocheted of paper. In a mixture of gay colors, it is strongly lined and sells for $3.79.

AS WE LIVE

Low-Income Housewife Can
Fill Easy Part-Time Jobs

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When the family income is not enough to meet all expenses, one of two things must be done. Either the costs of living must be cut or more money must be earned. How to handle this problem is the question raised here:

(Q) "I am 36 years old, have been married 17 years, and have three children, the youngest of whom is nine. My husband has an excellent job, is a very good worker, but his pay barely covers our monthly bills. Neither he nor the children wish me to go to work. I tried working but the family wants me at home when they come home from school or work. I agree with them that I should be there but I would like to do something to help a little. I sew quite a lot and can make any kind of flower. Can you advise me what I can do to provide at least some of the little things a family needs that my husband's pay simply cannot provide?"

(A) You do not say how old your other children are. I should think that the eldest or perhaps the two eldest children could earn a small sum on after-school or week-end jobs. There is always baby-sitting and help with home duties or neighbors and friends.

As for you, you already have a big job on your hands with the home and care of three children. A full-time job would be too much. You might, however, try to get a morning job so you could be back home in the afternoon when your children return from school.

There is always a demand for people who can adjust or remodel clothes, or who can make children's clothes. There should also be an opportunity for you to make artificial flowers for hats and dresses, or for store decorations.

I suggest that you get in touch with one or two shops in your community to see if they can use your services. You might be able to build up a nice little business making artificial decorative flowers for them.

Then talk to your minister about a sewing-at-home job. There are often wealthy people who want someone to do mending work or to remodel clothes. He could put you in touch with them.

Elizabeth Hurlock is one of the nation's great psychologists, and she will gladly help you with personal problems.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Health and Beauty Care
Is a Job for All Seasons

Don't hibernate like a bear in cold weather and then, unlike a bear, keep on eating. Your figure will look much less attractive than a bear's next spring when you go shooting for new clothes.

It's a funny thing! In cold weather we do require more food than we do in the summer-time but many women who exercise in the summer virtually hibernate in cold weather—in overheated rooms, with no outdoor exercise, and with snappy weather to whet their appetites whenever they stick their noses out of the front door.

Also, let us not deceive one another! Winter clothes are much kinder to us than are spring and summer garb. In winter we wear darker colors and coats and suits which somewhat camouflage any bulges we may have, and therefore more easily lull us into procrastination. We have no swim suits or sheers or play clothes to torture our then willing vanities.

We can discover a reason for not losing weight and exercising to decrease bulges and improve health, in every season and in every circumstance of life if we wish to do so. But—what does that get us? It gets us premature aging—a matronly figure which we did not have to have, a shortened life expectancy and the repercussions in personality which self-consciousness brings.

I advise you to develop the year-round habit of calorie counting and exercise, the year-round study of nutrition and good posture. Don't let your relatives, your friends or most of all yourself throw you to unnecessary early deterioration. There is nothing more exhilarating than outdoor exercise in cold weather and nothing is more beneficial if you are dressed properly for it. Keep your house at a temperature not more than 75 degrees; take brisk walks in the snappy weather, get plenty of sleep and do your mat exercises, come winter, spring, summer or fall.

Mark Founder's
Birthday and Think of Others

On Sunday, Feb. 22, anniversary of the double birthday of the founder of the Scout-Guide movement, Lord Baden-Powell and his wife, Lady Baden-Powell, Girl Guides and Brownies will attend a Thinking Day service at Christ Church Cathedral at 3 o'clock.

To further mark the day, Guides and Brownies will wear uniforms all week, hold open company meetings and do "special" good turns.

In connection with Thinking Day is the Guide friendship fund for the purpose of collecting pennies from each member to help other less fortunate Guides and Girl Scouts. It helps restart guiding in countries that have suffered from war; to send trainers to South America, Japan and Korea; to provide and equip the International Hostel, "Our Ark" in London, England, where any Guide may stay.

On Thinking Day Guides the world around one asked to think of each other and of ways to help others so they may carry out one of the favorite sayings of Lord Baden-Powell, "the real way to happiness is by giving happiness to other people."

Women

Victoria Daily Times THURSDAY, FEB. 19, 1953 15

Mrs. H. S. Armstrong, centre, was elected president of Provincial Council of Women yesterday at the YWCA. Left to right: Mrs. Rex Eaton, Vancouver, retiring president; Mrs. T. F. McWilliams, Kamloops, first vice-president; Mrs. F. J. Hollis, Vancouver, third vice-president, and Miss Ethel Gray, Victoria, recording secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. G. W. Kissick, North Shore, second vice-president, was absent when the picture was taken. Annual meeting concluded this morning and this afternoon delegates attended sitting of the Legislature and later were entertained by Mrs. Clarence Wallace at a tea-hour reception at Government House.

Women, Children and Health Main Concern in Provincial Council

In her report at annual meeting of Provincial Council of Women at YWCA, Wednesday morning, retiring president, Mrs. Rex Eaton, said that, conforming to the responsibility of the council, the provincial government has been presented with opinions of affiliated societies in interviews throughout the year.

Main subjects discussed have included position of women under the law in regard to the establishment of domicile and property rights; treatment for emotionally disturbed children; facilities for health examinations; provision for provincial wide meat inspection and health examinations.

Delegates attending the two-day meeting represented health and welfare organizations, church, lodges and women's associations of various political parties in British Columbia.

"I believe the council provides a place where we can discuss and decide upon certain programs of education and legislation designed for the general good, without bias, and with women whose main activities are in the political circles," Mrs. Eaton said. "Let us hold and develop this function of our council."

MANY RESOLUTIONS

Resolutions presented Wednesday and scheduled for today place emphasis on higher education, Indian affairs, the Doukhobors and other problems, the president pointed out.

T. R. Kelley, secretary of the advisory committee on Indian affairs, gave a brief address at the morning session on the aims and objects of his committee. "The affairs of the Indians are still in the hands of the federal government," he pointed out, "and we as a committee can only advise and suggest the reforms we would like to see implemented."

Foremost among these, he said, is the recommendation that there should be close Dominion-provincial co-operation in Indian affairs on such matters as education, health and social service, fur conservation and development and Indian trap-lines and provincial fish and game laws and provincial liquor legislation. The committee, Mr. Kelley said, suggests that "it should be possible to arrive at such financial arrangements between the Dominion and provincial governments as might bring Indians within scope of such provincial legislation, in order that there be mutual and co-ordinated assistance to facilitate the Indians to become in every respect, citizens proud of Canada and of the provinces in which they live."

The provincial advisory committee on Indian affairs is composed of three Indians, Edward Bohun, Port Essington; Ernest Brewer, Vernon, and Chief William Scow, Alert Bay; three white people, George Bruce, chairman, Vancouver; Capt. Charles Cates, North Vancouver, and Lawrence Guichon, Quilchena, B.C. Mr. Kelley is the son of Dr. Peter Kelley, Queen Charlotte Islands, first ordained Indian minister.

At the morning session Mayor Claude Harrison brought greetings from the city of Victoria and later, with Mrs. Harrison was among special guests at a luncheon in the YWCA for the delegates. Canon George Biddle took the devotional period. At the luncheon, Prof. G. C. Andrew was guest speaker, his subject "The University and the Community." He told delegates that the main need today is to prepare students to evaluate any problem and to provide an atmosphere for the development of new values and knowledge.

Council Reaffirms Belief In Mothers' Allowance Act

At Wednesday afternoon session of the annual meeting of Provincial Council of Women in Victoria, a resolution was passed affirming the council's belief in the efficiency and need for the Mothers' Allowance Act, pointing out that regulations under the act should provide adequate financial aid and that it was very important that greater use be made of the advisory board which is required under the act.

The resolution was passed following a report given by Mrs. Paul Smith, Vancouver, on a brief prepared for presentation to the government by Community Chest and Social Services Council of Greater Vancouver, advising that the Mothers' Allowance Act be repealed and merged with the Social Assistance Act.

Mrs. Smith pointed out that the Mothers' Allowance Act was passed in 1919, "the second piece of legislation after women got the vote," and that it "would be a distinct step backward if it was repealed."

"The province pays all the costs of the Mothers' Assistance Act," she pointed out, "and only 80 per cent of the Social Assistance Act. If you merge the two and in future a depression hits and hoards of people go on relief, you might find mothers' assistance losing out all along the way."

Other reports heard during Wednesday afternoon included that of Mrs. R. C. Cormier, New Westminster, archivist, who gave the historical background and purposes of the council; Mrs. I. Z. Conboy, Chilliwack, whose report on laws for women and children was read in her absence, and Dr. Marian Sherman, health and welfare.

Wedding in Vancouver Has Local, Eastern Ties

Several cities in Canada will have interest in a recent Vancouver wedding in which Jean Florence Allen became the bride of F. L. William Donald Stewart, RCAF Station, Rockcliffe, Ottawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stewart, Kinburn, Ont.

The bride, daughter of Mr. S. E. Allen, Saskatoon, was given in marriage by her father in a ceremony performed by Rev. M. W. Stevenson in Ryerson United Church, Vancouver. A bridal gown of champagne velvet in ballerina length, with full skirt and matching bolero, was complimented by a seed pearl headress and finger-tip veil. Flowers were Talisman roses in a shower bouquet. Miss Mina Early of Winnipeg was the sole attendant. She wore a ballerina length gown of antique bronze velvet and carried a shower bouquet of Golden Wonder carnations. Mr. Rodney Lindsay, best man, and Mr.

Barrie Lindsay and Mr. Gordon Laird, all of Vancouver, completed the bridal entourage.

A reception was held at "The Hollies," where the bride's uncle, Mr. C. D. Hart of Victoria, proposed the toast. For a motoring trip on Vancouver Island, Mrs. Stewart chose a brown worsted suit with velvet trim and brown accessories.

Mrs. R. A. Stewart of Almonte, Ont., and Mrs. J. A. Johnson of Calgary were special guests.

Labor Problems Explained at Women's Club

The constant conflict of interests between employee and employer will continue until a partnership is reached, Percy Rayment, secretary, Trades and Labor Council, told members of Victoria University Women's Club yesterday evening.

"Wherever such a partnership exists it has been successful," the speaker pointed out. "Mr. Rayment sketched a brief outline of the history of labor from the time when it knew nothing until the present time." He stressed that labor began completely ignorant of its importance in the scheme of things but was now fully aware of the part it played.

Labor has an interest and share of the profits of their work and should also have some control as to what happens to their product, Mr. Rayment said. Mrs. T. B. Williams was in the chair.

Two new members, Mrs. John Andrews, a graduate of Toronto University, and Miss Ethel Ingham, an Arcadia graduate, were introduced by Mrs. A. J. Butterfield.

Ald. Smith Would Close Bridge

Closure of Point Ellice bridge was suggested by Ald. Don Smith at a special city council meeting today called to discuss the bridge issue.

Canucks Will Not Get Babando

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Rangers of the National Hockey League changed their minds about farming out Pete Babando after his stellar play Wednesday night in the team's 4-2 victory over Boston.

U.S. Tests 'Cup-Size' A Bombs

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—An American civil defense official said here Wednesday night that three "cup-sized" atom bombs were dropped within the last three months on a bombing range in northern Minnesota.

Emergency Power Extension Backed

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons, by a vote of 154 to 61, today defeated an attempt by opposition parties to block extension of the government's emergency powers legislation.

Abbott Reported Set
To Leave Politics

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD
OTTAWA (BUP)—Finance Minister Douglas Abbott's budget speech tonight will be a double swan song, authoritative Liberal Party circles said today.

It definitely will be Abbott's last budget.

It almost certainly will be one of Abbott's last major appearances in the House of Commons as well.

Informed government sources said the finance minister is not only weary of his present exacting portfolio, but that he is also finished with public life itself, at least for the present.

Hensler Trial
Witness Says
He Saw ReportColdwell's Secretary Testifies
CCF Had Copy Before Parliament

MONTREAL (CP)—Russell Bell, private secretary to M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF Party, testified today a copy of the controversial Currie report was in Mr. Coldwell's office before it was tabled in the House of Commons.

Mr. Bell testified at the trial of Frederick Hensler, 37-year-old printing plant employee charged with theft of an advance copy of the report, that he had not received the report in the mail but had seen it on several occasions. He said he did not know who has it now.

Mr. Bell said Coldwell was ill and had instructed him to turn the copy of the report over to Stanley Knowles, CCF member of parliament for Winnipeg North Centre.

Mr. Bell said he turned it over. He received it back when the Commons adjourned for the Christmas holiday, and then gave it back to the CCF MP when the session resumed.

Mr. Bell told Judge Gustave Marin, presiding at the trial, that he had not seen Hensler until today.

ATHABASKAN TO RESCUE

Crashed Jet Pilot
Snatched From Sea

Esquimalt-based HMCS Athabaskan has distinguished herself in a life-saving role in Korean waters, the Navy learned here today.

Commanded by Capt. J. C. Reed, Victoria, Athabaskan is credited with saving the life of U.S. jet pilot Lieut. R. B. Statmatis, San Francisco, whose plane plummeted into the sea miles from his carrier base but within reach of the destroyer.

Statmatis, escorted by his wingman, aimed his failing jet in the general direction of Athabaskan and signalled for aid.

On the destroyer's bridge at the time were Lieut. E. M. Clayards, officer of the watch, and the navigator, Lieut. James Clayton. Both are Victorians.

Perceiving the flyer's distress, and realizing he could live no more than a few minutes in the ice-cold sea, Athabaskan increased to top speed for a point where it was calculated the jet would crash.

Meanwhile, Capt. Reed had been summoned. Athabaskan judged the spot closely and dropped a whaleboat as she lost way in the heavy sea.

The plane sank before the whaleboat could reach it, but Petty Officer Abel Gold, also of Victoria, coxswain of the boat, could see a patch of yellow dye with the flyer in the centre. He was picked up five minutes after he jumped clear of his sinking aircraft.

Vice-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, chief of naval staff, on a tour of operations, watched the rescue from the destroyer's bridge.

Pay Boost Seen
Likely for UBC
Professors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Professors at the University of British Columbia may get a pay raise.

A boost in the university grant in the provincial budget may answer appeals made on behalf of professors.

The government has set aside $2,500,000 for the university, an increase of $228,000 from last year.

Royal Commission Asked
By Two Major Groups

B.C.'s lumber associations today demanded a royal commission of inquiry into the government's new tax on the provincial forest industry.

B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association and B.C. Loggers' Association jointly protested against what they termed "ruinous" new taxes announced by Finance Minister Einar Gunderson in the Legislature Wednesday.

A prepared statement issued from offices of the two lumber groups in Vancouver today said:

"In regard to the drastic taxes on the logging industry proposed in the present budget the timber industry feels very strongly that these new imposts should be deferred until they have been submitted to a royal commission of inquiry.

"The new 10 per cent tax even if allowed as a deduction from taxable income by the Dominion will boost the tax rate in B.C. to about 57 per cent. If not allowed as a federal tax reduction the rate will be a fantastic 62 per cent.

"DISCRIMINATORY"

"In regard to the proposal to appraise timber and pulp licenses from all leases and limits and to impose a land and timber tax, this would be most discriminatory and would undoubtedly force liquidation of timber to avoid confiscation.

"This might well result in less revenue eventually to the government.

"The smaller loggers enable the larger companies to reserve their remaining timber to prolong the life of their industry and employment dependent thereon.

"It is therefore the considered opinion of the industry in B.C. that these proposed taxes should be deferred till a study has been made of the effect of these taxes on the economy of B.C.

"We strongly urge that a royal commission of inquiry be set up to make such a study.

Blasts from three directions were aimed today at Finance Minister Einar Gunderson's first Social Credit budget.

Protest also came from officials of mining companies against the proposed increase from 4% to 10% in the tax on company profits above $25,000.

E. C. Roper, president of the Mining Association of B.C. and general manager of Britannia Mining and Smelting Co., declared: "We are surprised and disappointed to note that the government has chosen to impose an additional tax burden on the industry at this time.

"In recent months some 15 or 16 producing mines have been compelled to suspend operations. Metal prices have fallen drastically so that many mines still operating are hard pressed to continue. Under present conditions we had hoped for some lightening of the tax burden rather than demands for more money."

Mining authorities' chief concern with the tax was that it may force mine closures and turn away capital investment.

Lead, zinc and gold mines took the tax levy the hardest.

Another reaction of the logging industry came from D. M. MacKenzie, president of the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association, who criticized the finance minister's claim that the tax would hit only the big companies and not the small ones.

He said it will be "John Q. Public, either as a shareholder or employee of the big company who will pay," not the company.

Job-Seeking Trip Fatal to Coast Youth

ROSSLAND, B.C. (CP)—A job-seeking expedition to the British Columbia interior by three Vancouver youths ended in tragedy when Robert Haines, 15, died of exposure after their car became stranded in a snowdrift.

A brother, Fred, 16, and another companion, Stanley Nicol, 17, are recovering from their ordeal in hospital here.

Their automobile broke down Tuesday in a snowdrift near Sheep Creek, about 26 miles from Rossland.

The brothers decided to look for shelter while Nicol headed for Rossland to get help. The brothers reached the cabin of trapper John Kilroy after staggering through heavy snow.

In the morning they struck out for the highway but became separated. Robert apparently tumbled into a ravine where his body was found later by RCMP.

His brother found shelter in an abandoned cabin not far away. He was found there by police Wednesday suffering from cold, but otherwise unharmed.

Nicol reached Rossland safely and directed RCMP to the area where his companions were lost.

Greedy Pig Still Swallows Tax Pennies

Restaurants and coffee shops eagerly await revision of the sales tax which will call for levy on meals of $1 and upwards when the bill passes the House. Meanwhile, Evelyn Vaux is still preoccupied with her piggy-bank behind the counter of the Flying Saucer, Douglas Street. "He's always hungry," she says.

Mine, Forest Interests Critical of New Taxes

Blasts from three directions were aimed today at Finance Minister Einar Gundersen's first Social Credit budget.

Biggest protest came from officials of mining companies against the proposed increase from 4% to 10% in the tax on company profits above $25,000.

E. C. Roper, president of the Mining Association of B.C. and general manager of Britannia Mining and Smelting Co., declared: "We are surprised and disappointed to note that the government has chosen to impose an additional tax burden on the industry at this time."

"In recent months some 15 or 16 producing mines have been compelled to suspend operations. Metal prices have fallen drastically so that many mines still operating are hard pressed to continue. Under present conditions we had hoped for some lightening of the tax burden rather than demands for more money."

TRUCK LOGGERS PROTEST

First reaction of the logging industry, also faced with a new 10% tax on profits came in criticism from D. M. MacKenzie, president of the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association who criticized the finance minister's claim that the tax would hit only the big operators and not the small ones.

He said it will be "John Q. Public, either as a shareholder or employee of the big company who will pay," not the company. Mining authorities' chief concern with the tax was that it may force mine closures and turn away capital investment.

Lead, zinc and gold mines took the tax levy the hardest.

CANNOT STAND IT

Howard James, Pioneer Gold Mines, said: "Half the small mines are closing down. It will be impossible to attract new companies into the province and hard for the majority already here to remain in operation."

"If they are trying to close us down," said Dr. W. W. Burnett of Cariboo Gold Quartz Mines, "they can do it easily. There isn't a gold mine in B.C. that can stand it."

The statement of D. M. MacKenzie, president of the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association, follows: "New taxes are always ushered on stage with the announcement that the big operator is going to pay the bill. It is never John Q. Public. It is possible that people can forever be taken in so easily."

"It will not be Mr. MacMillan who will pay this 10 per cent tax. It will be John Q. Public, who owns 10 shares of stock in the big company."

"It will be John Q. Public, either as a shareholder or employee of the big company, that will pay this 1 per cent assessment on timber."

"It is almost impossible to believe that the public has been seduced into believing that a logger is by choice laying waste our forests and not replenishing them; when, in fact, it is and always has been the taxation policy of the various governments, including the present proposal, that have forced logging operators to do those things that the various self-admitted do-gooders delight in complaining about."

"The time has come for each member in our provincial government to stand up and be counted on the questions of whether our taxes are to be equitable and not discriminatory, and whether the public is to be truly informed as to who is going to pay the bill."

Victoria's Army, Navy, and Air Force Club, which gave $250 some days ago to the Victoria Daily Times Flood Relief Fund, today contributed a second $250. This helped raise the Times fund total to $29,214.

In addition to the $500 given locally, the club has sent another $500 to the national fund inaugurated by its dominion president, A. J. Wickens, QC, of Moose Jaw.

This fund will be used for the relief of British veterans who are victims of the recent floods that devastated huge areas of Great Britain, Holland and Belgium.

Federal Aid Seen For 13 New CD Projects in B.C.

OTTAWA (CP)—The health department announced today that federal aid has been approved for 13 new civil defense projects in British Columbia involving expenditure of nearly $200,000. The federal share will be about one-third.

The largest project, costing $80,709, covers civil defense organization, administration and training within 10 municipalities comprising the Greater Vancouver target area.

Other projects involve sirens, communications and control centres, training facilities and facilities in various parts of the province.

'BUS DRIVERS ARE ONLY HUMAN'

DETROIT (UP)—City officials said today they would take no action against school bus driver John N. Snay, despite the unscheduled wild ride he gave his passengers through north-east Detroit.

A bus driver, they said, is only human. Snay, a veteran of 24 years' service, drove away from the Denby High School Wednesday afternoon and began a non-stop rip-roaring trip up one side street and down another. An hour later, after refusing to let any students off the bus, he deposited them all back at the high school and told them to walk home.

"I just got fed up," he explained. "It was the same thing every day—a bunch of clowns screaming, pulling the bell rope, running up and down the aisles and shooting firecrackers. I just waited for my chance and then I let 'em have it."

Budget Speech May Be Last Major Appearance

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

OTTAWA (BUP)—Finance Minister Douglas Abbott's budget speech tonight will be a double swan song, authoritative Liberal Party circles said today.

It definitely will be Abbott's last budget. After almost seven years of faithful service, the finance minister is tired of being the cabinet whipping-boy for public discontent over government policies.

It almost certainly will be one of Abbott's last major appearances in the House of Commons as well.

Informed government sources said the finance minister is not only weary of his present exacting portfolio, but that he is also finished with public life itself, at least for the present.

These sources stated definitely that Abbott will not be a candidate at the next federal general election, whenever it may come, but will retire instead to his private law practice in Montreal.

While the finance minister has made no public statement of his own intentions and the reason underlying them, it was indicated in Liberal circles that financial considerations are upmost.

It is a truism on Parliament Hill that no one becomes even prosperous by being a cabinet minister, if he is honest. And Abbott's standards of honesty are as uncompromising as have ever been brought to Parliament Hill by any public servant.

BIG PRACTISE AWAITS—In private life the finance minister is a Montreal lawyer with a big money practice awaiting him any time he chooses to return to it—provided he doesn't delay too long. Abbott is said to have decided that the time for him to make a break with public life and give attention to some of his personal interests cannot be postponed longer than the dissolution of the present parliament.

After having looked after the finances of the nation since 1947, he is said to have come to the conclusion that he should look after his own finances for the next few years in fairness to his family and to himself.

Abbott's retirement would be something more than a serious loss to the St. Laurent cabinet, where his prestige has been of the highest and his stature universally recognized in government and political circles.

In addition, it will add a new element of interest to the Liberal leadership race already shaping up in anticipation of the prime minister's retirement sometime after next voting day.

Abbott has rarely been mentioned as a reigning favorite for the Liberal leadership crown, but he has always been regarded as a contender in his own right.

If External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson should also disappear from the leadership field in order to succeed Trygve Lie as secretary-general of the United Nations, the race will narrow to Immigration Minister Walter Harris, Justice Minister Stuart Garson, possibly Resources Minister Robert H. Win- ners, and Health and Welfare Minister Paul Martin.

Acting president Dean S. N. F. Chant would not comment today until the official notification is received by the honorary bursar.

The government has set aside $250,000 for the university, an increase of $28,000 from last year.

3-Way Fight Forecast for IWA President

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A three-way fight for the presidency of the British Columbia division of the International Woodworkers' of America (CIO-CCL) was seen today with differences of opinion on handling of the 45-day summer strike backgrounding a split in the IWA's leadership.

Strong support is expected in J. Stewart Alsbury's bid for reelection at nominations to be held at today's third session of the 30,000-member union's annual convention in Vancouver.

Floyd Whalen, president of the Vancouver local, and Joe Morris, district vice-president and president of the Duncan local, are expected to be Alsbury's opponents.

Convention officials explained that if more than two names appear for each post in the nominations, an election will be held on the floor to eliminate all but two. A mail membership vote will then be held within 60 days to name the winning candidate.

Only a candidate nominated unanimously can be elected from the floor today.

Pay Boost Seen Likely for UBC Professors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Professors at the University of British Columbia may get a pay raise. A boost in the university grant in the provincial budget may answer appeals made on behalf of professors.

Acting president Dean S. N. F. Chant would not comment today until the official notification is received by the honorary bursar.

The government has set aside $250,000 for the university, an increase of $28,000 from last year.

ATHABASKAN TO RESCUE

Crashed Jet Pilot Snatched From Sea

Equilibrium-based HMCS Athabaskan has distinguished herself in a life-saving role in Korean waters, the Navy learned here today.

Commanded by Capt. J. C. Reed, Victoria, Athabaskan is credited with saving the life of U.S. jet pilot Lieut. R. B. Statmatis, San Francisco, whose plane plummeted into the sea miles from his carrier base but within reach of the destroyer.

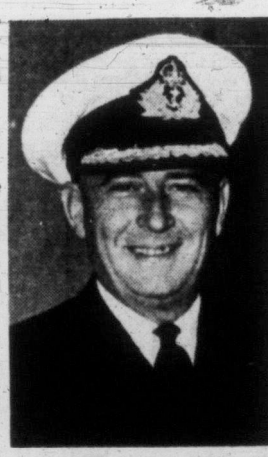

Statmatis, escorted by his wingman, aimed his falling jet in the general direction of Athabaskan and signalled for aid.

On the destroyer's bridge at the time were Lieut. E. M. Claydars, officer of the watch, and the navigator, Lieut. James Clayton. Both are Victorians.

Perceiving the flyer's distress, and realizing he could live no more than a few minutes in the ice-cold sea, Athabaskan increased to top speed for a point where it was calculated the jet would crash.

Meanwhile, Capt. Reed had been summoned. Athabaskan judged the spot closely and dropped a whaleboat as she lost way in the heavy sea.

The plane sank before the whaleboat could reach it, but Petty Officer Abel Gold, also of Victoria, coxswain of the boat, could see a patch of yellow dye with the flyer in the centre. He was picked up five minutes after he jumped clear of his sinking aircraft.

Vice-Admiral E. R. Mainguy, chief of naval staff, on a tour of operations, watched the rescue from the destroyer's bridge.
